School Meetings Vote Officers, Fix Budgets

Districts Convene In County

Traffic Subject In Bridge Area

A sprinkling of annual school meetings were held in rural areas Tuesday night with issues scarce and business for the most part routine, except in District No. 6, Town of Ulster, south Flatbush.

At the meeting concerning the Emma Wygant School, the district took steps to petition the New York State Traffic Commission to establish speed zones on Route 32 in the immediate area of the school and a residential speed zone from the Kingston city limits to a point roughly four miles north.

SPEAKERS pointed to heavily increased truck traffic over Route 32 since start of work on the Kingston-Rhinebeck bridge. Other speakers protested excessive speeding by passenger cars and flagrant violations of traffic rules concerning the district's school bus.

It was also pointed out that two pupils have been injured in auto accidents on Route 32 near the school within less than a year.

INCREASED state police patrolling of the area will be sought and the district taxpayers will cooperate in a petition to the proper traffic authorities.

A total of 48 taxpayers were present. Calvin Swart and Edward Acker served as tellers for the election.

The $22,974.72 adopted budget includes an item for musical instruction for pupils next year. The taxpayers also authorized payment of bus transportation for pupils within the district and to Kingston High.

Charles J. Tiano, who served as chairman of the meeting, was elected to a three-year term as trustee. He succeeds Joseph M. Browne, who was eulogized and given a rising vote of thanks upon his retirement after six years on the Board of Trustees.

OTHER OFFICERS named were Calvin Swart, clerk, and Mrs. Thelma Clausi, collector-treasurer. The holdover members of the board are Gifford Beal and Mrs. Thomas Parker.

Approximately 100 people attended a meeting of Town of Esopus District 1 at the auditorium in Port Ewen. This district was recently consolidated from Districts 1, 12, 13 and 15.

A budget of $106,876 was approved and the following officers elected: Oakley Maynard, Floyd Ellsworth and Vernon Frost, trustees; Louis Goldberg, treasurer; J. Wilson Tinnie, clerk, and Martin E. Munnelly, tax collector.

A TOTAL budget of $84,293.80 was approved at the meeting of the Woodstock School by a vote of 54 to 4. An original budget of $83,993.80 was presented but a resolution was adopted to raise the amount for repairs to the building from $200 to $500.

Mrs. Edward Gurland proposed a vote of appreciation to the school board for its efforts in reducing the tax rate from an estimated $46 to $43.87. The assessed valuation of Common School District No. 2 for 1954-55 was $1,121,832. The estimated

Voluntary Vaccine Method Is Favored

Eisenhower Says He Feels Program Of Inoculations Is Safe and Wise

Washington, May 4 (AP)—President Eisenhower said today he has given all sorts of consideration to federal controls over distribution of Salk polio vaccine but still thinks the voluntary method is best.

The President told a news conference the government intends to see to it that no child ever goes without the vaccine because of inability to pay for it.

VOLUNTEERING his remarks about the vaccine program, Eisenhower also said government officials are convinced the present inoculation program should go ahead despite development of paralytic polio by a few youngsters who have received vaccine produced by one firm.

The President said that in his opinion it is both safe and wise to go ahead with the inoculations.

Eisenhower also dealt with these other topics:

CEASE FIRE — Eisenhower said that at the moment the United States is in a sort of wait-and-see position with respect to possible talks between this country and Red China on a cease-fire in the Formosa area.

He added there are a number of countries—apart from the United States—which are interesting themselves in the prospect of a cease-fire. There is nothing new on the subject, he said.

MRS. EISENHOWER — The President said Mrs. Eisenhower's health is not as robust and strong as that of some people, but she is a good healthy person despite what he termed her inability to throw off the effect of a very serious virus infection which she developed last March.

The reporter who put the question about the first lady's health said it was prompted by two things: Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler's statement in March that the President might not seek a second term because of the state of Mrs. Eisenhower's health, and secondly, cancellation of all of Mrs. Eisenhower's social engagements for this week on orders of her physician.

THE REPORTER, Charles Von Fremd of CBS, told Eisenhower he realized the question was a personal one and hoped

Attorney Harry Gold

Lions Elect Gold As Club President

Attorney Harry Gold was elected president of the Lions Club at the club's annual meeting held at the Governor Clinton Hotel on Tuesday at noon.

Gold, who is special city judge for the city of Kingston, was this year's first vice president of the Lions Club and served as chairman of the Kingston Area on Parade industrial exposition sponsored by the club. He will assume the presidency on July 1, succeeding Lawrence M. Jenson.

OTHER OFFICERS elected: Warren F. Smith, first vice president; J. Wilson Tinney, second vice president; George Svirsky, third vice president; Milfred J. Buddenhagen, secretary; Matthias M. Richardson, financial secretary, and Joseph Fassbender, treasurer.

Also named to office were Rabbi Herbert I. Bloom as chaplain; Robert E. Teetsel, tailtwister; William Reardon, Lion tamer; Roger Baer, organist; Walter Donnaruma and Francis Martocci, historians.

HENRY SINGER was elected director to fill the unexpired term of Tinney. Richard M. Kalish, Donald Briggs and Dr. Saul Goldfarb were elected directors for the full two-year term.

All elections were unanimous, following recommendations of the nominating committee.

Holiday for Troops

Heidelberg, Germany, May 4 (AP)—American troops in Europe will be given next Monday off in observance of the 10th anniversary of VE Day, army headquarters announced today. Since the anniversary, May 8, falls on Sunday, the holiday will be observed the following day.

No Rationing Is Planned on Salk

Albany, May 4 (AP)—The state health commissioner has approved a system of voluntary distribution of Salk vaccine upstate without formal rationing.

Dr. Herman E. Hilleboe said yesterday that under the system the health department would receive weekly reports of all consignment and shipping orders from drug firms sending the anti-polio vaccine into New York state.

THE SYSTEM was recommended earlier in the day by the state's advisory committee on polio vaccine. If mandatory distribution regulations should become necessary, the committee said, they could be put in effect within 48 hours.

The committee reported that the distribution problem upstate differed sharply from that in New York city. It said the city last week enacted local legislation providing for record keeping.

In Washington, Gov. Harriman declared he favored a federal rationing system. But he added that since none had been established the vaccine would be plentiful before such a system could be made effective.

Under the distribution plan, doctors will be asked to keep records of all persons receiving the vaccine. Commissioner Hilleboe said the system should "result in an equitable distribution."

Monarchy Suggested In Viet Nam

U. S. Proposal To Avoid Chaos

Saigon, South Viet Nam, May 4 (AP)—The United States today was reported recommending that a constitutional monarchy be established for strife-torn South Viet Nam.

As authoritative sources revealed this current American position, local and provincial Vietnamese leaders flocked to Saigon for a special Congress called by Premier Ngo Dinh Diem to act on a national revolutionary committee's demand for the ouster of Chief of State Bao Dai, the ex-premier of Annam.

FROM HIS luxurious villa on the French Riviera, Bao Dai denounced the Congress—or "states general"—as illegal.

The American position was said to be that because of South Viet Nam's political immaturity, the stabilizing influence of a monarchy with only limited powers is needed to give continuity and avoid chaos.

The sources said that should local sentiment prove so great against Bao Dai, his son Bao Long or some other member of the former royal house could be designated ruler with tightly circumscribed powers.

BAO DAI, now 42, succeeded to the throne of the Central Viet Nam kingdom of Annam in 1926. A puppet first of the French and then of the Japanese during the occupation, he abdicated at the end of the war and became a "supreme councellor" in the postwar revolutionary government of Communist Ho Chi Minh.

Early in 1946 he fled to Hong Kong and lived in exile there or on the French Riviera. The French brought him back in 1949 to be chief of state for Viet Nam. He went to France in April, 1954, and hasn't been back to Saigon since.

SENTIMENT against the playboy ex-emperor increased in Saigon today. Newspapers appearing a few hours before the states general assembly gathered carried violent attacks against him.

The Vietnamese move to oust Bao Dai followed his attempt last week to supplant Premier Diem with Gen. Nguyen Van Vy, a supporter of the chief of state. The army refused to follow Vy, who fled to the hill resort of Dalat.

DIEM'S SUCCESS in routing the rebel Binh Xuyen Society which attempted to overthrow his government by armed force last week, apparently has brought him at least tacit support from the French.

Sources in Paris said last night that Premier Edgar Faure's government was ready to support the Doughty Vietnamese Nationalist leader provided he can give his country a strong, stable government representing a wide range of its population.

This represents an about face for the French, who only a few weeks ago were urging the United States to join them in finding another premier for South Viet Nam.

Scores Initial Victory

Paris, May 4 (AP)—Former Premier Mendes-France took a step on the comeback trail today. He scored an initial victory in his battle for control of the Radical Socialist party. Party leaders, meeting at the start of a one-day special convention voted—unofficially reported at 96-87—to put the discussion of a party shakeup in the party machine on the agenda. Followers of Mendes-France have been demanding reorganization of the party, putting it more in line with its old leftist traditions.

Stang, Council to Tour Area for Disposal Sites

Aldermen Propose That BPW Extend City Lighting Program

Cite Dark Areas Off Main Roads

A proposal urging consideration of the city's poorly lighted streets in furtherance of the long-range lighting plan was referred to the Board of Public Works at last night's Common Council meeting.

A motion from the floor by Third Ward Alderman Edwin Radel (D) seconded by Second Ward Alderman Benjamin A. Storms (R) asked for immediate consideration of streets that are now either poorly lighted or have no lights, and was referred to the BPW by Alderman-at-Large Joseph Kelly.

Radel, who had complained of delaying action on several requests for street lights while existing lights were being replaced on main thoroughfares, offered his resolution to the BPW, after City Clerk Bernhardt S. Kramer had read resolutions by Fourth Ward Alderman Joseph F. Wenzel (R) for street lights in his ward.

A RESOLUTION by Alderman Charles J. Cole, (D) 13th ward asking for remedial action to prevent overflow of a natural spring on private lands in the Dunn street area, and another by Harry R. Brandt, (R) seventh ward, were referred by Alderman-at-Large Kelly for immediate action.

Radel's resolution on new street lighting asked that the city clerk be directed to inform the BPW that the city has areas either poorly lighted or with no lights at present, and he urged that he "impress upon the board that resolutions from all wards have been directed through the council to remedy this condition."

AT PRESENT, Radel noted, some fixtures are being dismantled and replaced, and he moved that "because the present replacement program is a commendable project, that aforementioned areas be given immediate consideration and action" in conjunction with the replacement program, and he thought it advisable to use such replaced fixtures and poles as are owned by the city in the other areas.

Radel had first asked that the areas without lights or those poorly lighted be considered before replacements on main streets. He referred to recently improved lighting on Wurts and McEntee streets, and he urged "prime consideration" for the other areas.

ALDERMAN STORMS took exception to this, he said, because he would not want to see the long-range program stopped. This objection and the proposal by Tenth Ward Alderman James K. Ryan that replaced fixtures be used elsewhere, were considered in the final draft of Radel's resolution.

Cole's resolution noted that there was a natural spring reservoir at the rear of the lands of Anthony Knego on Dunn street and the adjacent property of Fred C. Lang.

Water from it, he said, flows down to an underground culvert leading to a public water out-

THOMAS J. MURPHY

Grand Jurors Pick Murphy 10th Time As Their President

Thomas J. Murphy of Port Ewen was reelected and installed for his 10th term as president of the Ulster County Grand Juror's Association during the annual meeting this week at the Court House.

Mr. Murphy, in his acceptance speech, thanked the jurors for their cooperation and support in the past and said he looked forward for one of the most successful years in the history of the association during 1955.

Also elected and installed were:

Chester A. Elliott, Highland, vice-president; Mrs. Anne M. Ashdown, Kingston, secretary and Edmund Zeidler, Kingston, treasurer.

ELECTED TO SERVE on the board of directors were Mrs. Raymond Schuler, Kingston; Thomas J. Murphy, Mrs. Asndown, Mr. Elliott, Frederick Baumgarten, Stone Ridge; Percy Croswell, Kingston; Ward Dierfelter, Hurley; F. Leslie Garrison, Leslie Lyons, Mrs. Sam Mann, Kingston; Fred Osterhoudt, New Paltz; Ruth Scholten and Katherine Schleede, Kingston; John Tillson, Stone Ridge and Mr. Zeidler. Mrs. Schuler, chairman of the nominating committee, was the installing officer.

PRESIDENT MURPHY announced the appointment of a five-member committee to work with other groups for the welfare of the teen-agers of the area. Working on the group are Mrs. Mann, Katherine Schleede, Ruth Scholten, Sidney Gromoll and Percy Croswell.

"Our association has always been active in promoting programs to try and help the youth of the area," the president said, "and the appointment of this committee is designed to further our interests in this mounting problem. Through our efforts and working with other groups we hope, if possible, to curb juvenile delinquency to a lesser degree," he said.

Pipe Voted For Present Land Used

Rent Control Is In Committee

Sites, other than the recently considered area at Kingston Point, will be inspected for a local sanitary landfill project for refuse disposal, it was revealed last night as the Common Council legislated to permit use of the Wilbur avenue area until the city gets a permanent landfill tract.

Mayor Frederick H. Stang said today he and the aldermen will make an inspection tour of possible landfill sites next Tuesday night. It was agreed, he said, not to mention the areas under consideration at this time.

THE ALDERMEN, last night, authorized a budget note of $4,000 for the purchase of 150 feet of pipe to extend drainage facilities at the Wilbur avenue dumping site.

Mayor Stang's bid for local action on rent control by July 1, was left with the laws and rules committee, the aldermen legislated in behalf of closing city hall offices Saturdays in July and August, and authorized budget notes of $776 for conditioning and preservation of trees at Academy Green park and the city hall grounds.

Third Ward Alderman Edwin Radel, (D.) revealed during the vote on the $4,000 budget-note proposal that other sites for a landfill project are being considered.

RADEL EXPLAINED that in voting for the installation of new pipe in the Wilbur avenue area that he did not wish to make it appear as though he was "forcing something on the 13th ward." Then mentioning the other possible sites under consideration, he said that "by the end of three months I feel we'll come up with an answer that will be satisfactory to all."

A committee named at the April meeting to discuss a four-point program for the Kingston Point area as suggested by Mayor Stang, did not report last night. Alderman-at-large Joseph Kelly named Fifth Ward Alderman Samuel J. Perry (R), James K. Ryan, 10th ward, (D) Benjamin A. Storms, second ward, (R) and Charles J. Cole, 13th ward (D) on the committee last month.

MAYOR STANG'S letter on the $4,000 budget notes proposal, said, "as indicated in my previous communications, it has become necessary for me to request additional funds for pipe in the Wilbur avenue refuse area."

Had the fifth ward landfill project been approved, he noted, new pipe would not be necessary, since "nothing definite has been decided" to provide a permanent dumping area, "it is now absolutely necessary that more pipe be provided immediately for the continuation of the Wilbur avenue refuse area."

"I TRUST," he concluded, "that it will not be necessary again to ask your Honorable Body for additional funds for this area, and that a permanent disposal area will be provided."

In his letter on rent controls the mayor noted that control is due to end for Kingston and other places on July 1, by an act of the state legislature, and he said local legislation may keep

Craft, Kingston Group Buy Saugerties Building

A contract was signed yesterday for the purchase of the Hinrich building on Partition street, Saugerties, by a group of Kingston businessmen headed by Raymond E. Craft, local realtor.

The Hinrich building, one of the largest in Saugerties, consisting of three stories and basement, has a large frontage on Partition street. It is the former Lazarus building.

Associates of Craft in the transaction are Jack Shor, Leo Holtz and Albert Flick, it was reported. This is the same group which contracted recently to purchase The Freeman building on Fair street from the Home-Seekers Savings and Loan Association.

Holtz is the owner of The Smart Shop, 304 Wall street. Shor owns Jack's Sunoco Station on North Front street and with Flick and Craft has joint holdings in several commercial properties in the Kingston area.

The Hinrich building is located next to London's Department Store, formerly Reed's.

There are three stores in the building, a restaurant, shoe store and radio-television firm, and six apartments on the two upper floors.

Craft said today no changes in the operation of the property were contemplated at this time.

He pointed out that the building, "of solid construction and in excellent condition," was "further evidence of the great expansion now taking place in the Kingston-Saugerties area."

Public Is Urged to Hear Community Chest Outline

Reservations are not necessary for Thursday's dinner of the Kingston Area Community Chest, it was announced today by George B. Matthews, president. In encouraging a large attendance to hear Thomas E. Miller, manager of public relations for the Hercules Powder Co., who will be the principal speaker, Mr. Matthews said there will be room for all.

The dinner will be held in George Washington School cafeteria at 6:30 p. m. and Mr. Miller's topic is Public Relations and the Community Chest.

Mr. Matthews stressed that the Kingston organization is fortunate to secure a speaker with Mr. Miller's background. Mr. Miller has been intensely interested in welfare work in Delaware for the past 18 years.

Mr. Miller is in charge of public relations for the Hercules or-

Plane Crashes in Bay

New York, May 4 (AP)—A twin-engine Beechcraft Bonanza plane crashed into Jamaica Bay at 7:38 a. m. today after an unsuccessful landing attempt. The pilot was not injured. There were no passengers. A Port of New York Authority spokesman said one of the engines failed as the pilot, John Douglas, brought the plane in for a landing. The pilot climbed out onto the wing and was rescued minutes later by the coast guard. The Port Authority said the plane was owned by the Bulova Watch Co.

EISENHOWER AND ZHUKOV

President Eisenhower revealed at a recent press conference that he is in correspondence with Marshal Georgi Zhukov, now Defense Minister of the Soviet and during World War II one of Russia's most successful military leaders. The President refused to reveal the contents of the letters but he hopes that some good will come of the correspondence.

In the days before relationships between the Soviet and this country grew bad it was known that Marshal Zhukov and then General Eisenhower held each other in high regard as soldiers. The drifting apart of the two countries has probably made anything like a real friendship between the two men impossible. Yet it may be that the feelings of mutual respect still survive and can be used to advantage.

Something as complicated as the present state of world affairs is not likely to be resolved by an exchange of letters between two men who were once comrades-in-arms and who now occupy high positions in their respective governments. But if some good, however small and insignificant it may seem, is accomplished by the exchange of letters it will have proved worth while. No avenue that can lead to better understanding, however remote it may be, can be ignored.

Two are supposed to be able to live as cheaply as one. Whoever said this must have been a good eater.

AWAY WE GO

We Americans are widely renowned for moving around a lot. We're great travelers, of course. But, more important, we keep changing the places where we live and work.

Just how much of this we do can be gauged from some new Census Bureau figures. They show that from April, 1953, to April, 1954, some 29 million Americans changed their homes. That's nearly a fifth of the population.

Most of this switching about seems to occur within regional limits. But about five million of the 29 million moved from one state to another. The Far West and the North Central areas gained from this migration, at the expense of the South and Northeast.

This mobility, as the sociologists like to call it, has been an American habit since frontier days. When things went bad in one spot, a man just picked up and moved on in search of better opportunities elsewhere. Usually he found them.

The habit accounts both for some of the strong points and some of the weaknesses in American life.

When jobs pile up around the house, just relax and take them in stride—approaching them after careful appraisal of the proper attack, an important reading of the day's newspapers and a little nap to give one strength. It's amazing how simple such tasks can become as they get another reprieve.

FORCEFUL GESTURE

The American submarine Nautilus has already successfully demonstrated the practicability of atomic-powered ocean vessels. But the Nautilus, being a warship, can never serve as an emissary bearing this country's hopes of peace to ports all around the globe.

Therefore it was welcome news that the United States intends to build an atomic merchant ship to be sent around the world as a symbol of this nation's desire to apply nuclear energy for peaceful purposes.

No plan has so caught the imagination of the world as did President Eisenhower's atoms-for-peace proposal in December, 1953. But Russian reluctance has stymied any real action in that direction, and meantime peoples hungry for relief from war have seen no concrete demonstration of the atom's possibilities for peace.

A ship powered with nuclear fuel is no substitute for a daring global plan to divert men's energies away from the making of weapons. But as token evidence of what might happen in a climate of better international understanding, it can be a forceful gesture. We must begin somewhere.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

WORDS AT LARGE

Two years ago, if anyone said "Conformity!" most people would wonder what he was talking about because in this country there is no rigid conformity except among teen-age gals who must do as their class at school does even if it gives them a tail like a horse.

Some propagandists got to using the word, conformity, and made a sin of it. After all, in some ways of life we all conform to patterns. We wear clothes which are fairly uniform, and advertising has taught us to eat the same breakfasts, although I, the conservative, eat neither eggs nor cereals, preferring meat or fish to start the day. We, most of us, stop at a red light and go when it is green. We pay our taxes, which we hate, and grumble almost in unison.

But what those, who most violently object to conformity, resent vehemently is the cultivation of a national ideal of life, namely, our people accepting the same concepts or being oppressed or coerced into believing them.

And yet, most of us do conform about generalities or we should have an anarchy. Most Americans believe that there is a God, a Divine Intelligence, although they can get into the fiercest kinds of arguments as to what He is and how He is to be worshipped. The fundamental remains, however.

And nearly all of us believe that ours is a good country, to which we try to be loyal according to our lights. Again there are vast and annoying differences of opinion as to how one can be most effectively loyal to his country—but the need for loyalty is not denied, and traitors are despised as unworthy and indecent.

Then most of us believe in the family and we should like to see our own preserved through life from beginning to the end. We do not, some of us, succeed in that, perhaps through selfishness or inflexibility or just plain cussedness. But the worst offenders speak well of the family although they have made a mess of their own.

We, in this country, are becoming somewhat confused about our economics because we live in a kind of mixed socialist-capitalist system. Two wars and a great depression have made our economy to go into by-ways. Nevertheless, most of us believe in good old-fashioned capitalism, if we could get a try at it again. However, we should not like to give up any of the benefits that came to us from the give-aways, that is, when we get something for nothing.

So we argue over the economy and some are for this and some for that but on the whole, it is the details we quarrel about, not the general principles. The Marxists and Keynesians and similar theorists have made smaller headway in this country than might have been expected seeing how much effort has gone into their propaganda.

Most Americans believe that their Constitution is a great instrument of government, particularly as it protects our liberties. But we are all, in this land, lawyers of various stages of amateurishness and each one of us knows exactly what the government should do, the Congress pass on, and the Supreme Court decide. That is why we are a free people. And let no one silence the citizen who wishes to air his views, as long as he keeps himself a free man. In the end, good sense generally prevails although it sometimes takes a long time to show good sense.

What then is all this outcry against conformity? It would seem that a minority of folks want most of us to conform to their notions. They raised a storm about "book-burning" but they use foul means to kill books in the market place; they raise an outcry against informers for the Government, but they form committees to inform each other about whom they love and hate. In other words, instead of accepting the majority as the norm, they want a particular minority opinion to be the norm. And they raise the cry of "Conformity!" much as a pickpocket shouts, "Stop Thief!"

Well, it is all in a lifetime and if one lives long enough, the protest against a pattern in one decade becomes the pattern of the next, as Benjamin Franklin would say if he saw his fellow-publishers in 1955 in long trousers.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

OVERTREATMENT OF SKIN CONDITIONS

One of the most common of all skin ailments is contact dermatitis, which means inflammation of the skin (from "itis" — inflammation and "derma"—skin) from coming in contact with some substance to which it is sensitive. It is extremely unfortunate that many of these cases are due to overtreatment of simple skin conditions with a variety of drugs to which the patient may be sensitive. Some skin specialists have estimated that at least half their patients have been overtreated before they even consult a physician, that an estimate of 1,000,000 such cases a year in the United States would not be exaggerating.

Small injuries, burns, rashes, irritations, insect bites, rashes due to plants may all be treated with antiseptics, germicides, disinfectants, and various home concoctions sometimes setting up such a chain of reactions that it may take months for the physician, who is finally consulted when the condition of overtreatment dermatitis becomes really bad, to find out what is causing the trouble. Sometimes one remedy is tried on the advice of a friend. When this fails or makes the condition worse, another salve or ointment is applied, perhaps on someone's experience with another entirely different type of skin condition. As the individual tries one remedy on top of the other, it can easily be seen how difficult it is going to be to clear it up.

When should we consult a physician for skin conditions? The following table has been set up by the Council on Pharmacy and Chemistry of the American Medical Association as a guide to the public: Seek medical aid in:

1.—Scalp, eye, ear and anogenital skin injuries.
2.—Puncture wounds from nails, glass, slivers, steel wool, thorns, briars, light bulbs, and similar materials.
3.—Scratches and cuts which have become contaminated.
4.—Persistent bleeding and oozing or bleeding any time during healing or onset of irritation.
5.—Burns from chemicals such as acids, alkali, and solvents.
6.—Sunburn if not relieved by application of milk of magnesia or calamine lotion without phenol.
7.—Bites, when ticks or spides are suspected.
8.—Bites, all animal and especially human.
9.—Itching and burning, redness and swelling, suspected infection.
10.—Fungus infections (laboratory tests are necessary).

Little cuts, scratches and burns should be bandaged with sterile gauze. An ice cube or cold cloth will relieve pain. Bandage should be changed as necessary, and injury kept dry till healing takes place, usually five days to a week.

We should always use any preparations for our skin exactly as directed by the physician and not use anything else at the same time. All remedies should be destroyed when a cure is obtained and they should not be given to anyone else.

Part of Mr. Molotov's Bag of Tricks

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA) — "Operation Alert"—the nationwide civil defense exercise set for June 15—will test five years' almost futile effort to make America conscious of the dangers from atomic bomb attack.

In Federal Civil Defense Administration they refer to their education program as "The Story Nobody Wants to Hear."

They began telling it shortly after the Korean war broke out. Since then, succeeding generations of government press agents have beaten their brains out to get their message across, then gave up and resigned.

They really got going in 1951 with 20 million copies of an "alert card." This was followed by 250,000 copies of a booklet, "Survival Under Atomic Attack." It went into more detail than the alert card. Private organizations and business concerns reprinted 20 million copies at their own expense.

Then there were seven half-hour TV shows. They cost only $1,600 to make, but they got $100,000 worth of free time.

FOR DRAMATIC WALLOP, three 10-truck convoys were put on the road with a three-dimensional picture exhibit big enough to fill a basketball floor. They covered 36,000 miles, hit 82 cities and were seen by 1,200,000 people. But this was less than one per cent of the population.

In the fall of 1952 a "Pledge for Home Defense" campaign laid an egg.

In 1953 the first atomic bomb test was thrown open to press and radio at the Nevada proving grounds. It was televised and described in awful tones, but it didn't scare anybody very much.

The Government Printing Office reported it had sold 70 million civil defense leaflets and pamphlets.

FCDA had spent 10 million dollars up to this time to tell its story. Half of it went to the states on a matching-fund basis, so the total was really 15 million dollars.

THE ECONOMY-MINDED Eisenhower administration cut civil defense education funds down to $1,211,000 for 1954, with only $654,000 matching funds for the states. FCDA decided to sink most of its money in the film production of the first hydrogen bomb explosion. It just didn't register.

The first general civil defense tests were held in 233 cities in 1954. People regarded them as a nuisance.

When the facts about the danger of radioactive "fall-out" from H-bombs was released in September, 1954, FCDA had a new scare to sell. There was a five-months' hassle getting the information in such shape that the average citizen would know what to do about it. But beginning last February, FCDA went to work on this job—its toughest assignment.

Civil defense education appropriations have been stepped up to a total of $3,500,000 for this year and $4,657,000 for the year beginning next July 1. This is out of a total civil defense budget of 62 million dollars—biggest since 1952 when the total was 75 million dollars. In all 300 million dollars have been spent on civil defense in five years.

THERE ARE NOW a number of leaflets, pamphlets and handbooks available. The leaflets, like "Facts About the H-Bomb" and "Radioactive Fallout" are free, but limited in quantity. The handbooks run from "Evacuation of Civil Populations" at a nickel to "Home Shelters" for 35 cents. All are obtainable from Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D. C.

This test will affect 50 out of 92 critical target areas. In addition, seven out of the 42 remaining U. S. cities will get a surprise alert. There will be a 26 minute warning, followed by two to three hours of test. The more confusion, the more it will show what's wrong with civil defense today.

Friendly Relations Between U. S. and Spain Needed Among Other Allies in West

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Madrid, May 4—If all allies on this side of the Iron Curtain worked as cordially together and as understandingly and as enthusiastically as Spain and the United States do today, the chances of preventing a third world war would be immeasurably improved.

For only after surveying the wonderful strategic set-up and the plans for an even bigger build-up in the future does one realize that here in Spain a relatively inconsequential investment of funds by the United States already has brought results far in excess of what the American people may ever get out of the other countries into which billions of Marshall Plan aid were poured in the last several years.

To understand the strategic value of American bases in Spain it is necessary to take into account two possibilities. One is that, due to internal political pressure, some day neither Britain nor France will—unless there is a direct attack on their cities — permit American airmen to retaliate with atom bombs from bases on their soil even though some American city may have already been destroyed by bombs. The other is that American airplanes starting from Spanish bases can carry on strategic air missions into the heartland of the enemy area and refuel or come to rest at points in the eastern Mediterranean and the Middle East.

But what is also important is that Spain is to our bases in England what Texas is to our forward units in Montana and the Canadian defense line. Here in a sunny climate, where all-year-round operations are possible, the big supply and support depots of the future will be available to the American air forces operating throughout Europe.

But, in addition to the tremendous value of Spain to the U. S. Air Force and the Strategic Air Command, there is another advantage, which the ports on the long Spanish coast lines at the western end of the Mediterranean give to the U. S. Navy whose aircraft carriers must refuel and take on supplies at convenient locations. The opportunity presents itself for joint tactical operations in the Mediterranean, with the U. S. Air Force and the Navy working in cooperation.

As American military missions become firmly established here—and they have moved in quietly and efficiently—there is a sense of real security achieved for the American people. The planning began when the late Adm. Forrest Sherman, under the Truman administration, came here to lay the groundwork for what has since become perhaps the most successful piece of two-nation cooperation on a military level that the modern world has seen.

Spain, of course, is not a member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, and sometimes one wonders whether fate has not, after all, decided for us that under a two-nation partnership there would be less red tape and less opportunity for the injection of what are sometimes frustrating problems of a political nature than might be the case under the cumbersome set-up of a nineteen-nation group.

Americans can breathe easier because Spain has opened up big areas of land for airfields and has generously bestowed military advantage after advantage to make possible a real defense operation, ready for instant action. It has cost Spain more than has been received here, and this is something that ought to engage the earnest attention of Washington authorities. Here economic aid, for example, is reckoned in terms of thirty millions—not billions—and the annual amount should really be at least twice that sum, because there is no question but what America got far the better of the bargain in the way the military agreements were set up. The Spanish officials are much too proud to make a point of it, but many Americans feel the United States could well afford to pay fully for the many tangible things that have been given here. Thus, for instance, the American military mission occupies a lot of office space rent free. One wonders in what other Allied country any such generous gesture has ever been made by a government.

There is little talk of war here, and the newspapers lately have been publishing dispatches from America and elsewhere about the hopes being expressed that World War 3 is more remote. But it is a fortunate thing that no effort of defense nature has been relaxed in this enormous base. It is precisely because the Communists know what can be done by America with air power based in this country that they may never risk provocation to a major war.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Los Angeles, May 3 — Gene Fowler has written rhapsodies about John Barrymore, Sadakichi Hartman, a hybrid Japanese-German, and William C. Fields, who began his theatrical career as a juggler under the name of Claude Nesselroe. The more he tries to make them admirable and amusing the more repulsive they come out.

Fields was an unregenerate specialist in raucous, uncompromising low-downishness and a dirty double-crosser, too. He promised to leave me one million dollars in gratitude for the pleasure I had given him with my essays about Eleanor Roosevelt. When his will came out I did not get a nickel.

There was a request for an orphanage with a specification that colored children as well as white should be admitted. Fowler has always insisted that, in the long run, this was all for the best, but it came to nothing because the bum did not leave enough to cover this philanthropy. I feel that I am not qualified to discuss it objectively.

As for Fowler, for many years he has been known as Booker T. Fowler and, in the days of the rubber-neck wagons in Hollywood, he used to parade the block where he lived pushing a two-passenger baby-carriage. The passengers were little girls, one a golden blonde, the other a pale chocolate, named Mavis, a pretty name, too, which her mother, a Puerto Rican sojourner, had adopted from an advertised chocolate drink which you may remember.

The mother presently took Mavis back to San Juan and after a few years the Fowlers got a request for a grand piano as Mavis was showing symptoms of talent. Gene and Agnes settled for an upright.

Mr. Fowler's office in his home has a stained glass chapel window from the old Tombs Prison in New York which Bill O'Dwyer sent him when they were tearing it down, and other churchly ornaments which impart a pervasive fragrance of religion. He is a strange man in a way that I have never observed in any other man. Do you suppose I may have been helling around with a saint all these years?

He appointed himself public defender of Barrymore, Hartman and Fields after they had died respected by few and those few mostly low characters. And, as an act of piety, he did "Beau James," a biography of Jimmy Walker which quietly soothed away the angry contempt of many who had not forgiven Walker's betrayal of the confidence of so many young people.

No man but a cop or a warden has known intimately as many hard cases as Gene has, and it is a strange thing, impressing me more and more, that he never condemns anyone. In any gathering of worldly men, the conversation always drifts around persons who have not troubled to endear themselves, but the worst I have ever heard Gene say is that one such character always puzzled him.

One night during the war at an apartment in New York where his daughter, Jane, was entertaining some kids of her age, someone teed off on Hitler. Gene said, well, maybe the poor fellow had some hidden virtues.

Recently, Gene has been doing a book on picturesque personalities of the newspaper business whom he knew in Denver, New York and Chicago. He asked E. D. Coblentz, of the Call-Bulletin, in San Francisco, an old-time Hearst editor, for some stuff on a notorious grafter and blackmailer. Cobby obliged and Gene thanked him, but he said to Ben Hecht:

"Gee, Ben, I can't say that about the man. He is dead."

Another old spavin obliged with his own autobiography in which he said his hobby was drinking whiskey. This was signed and authorized, but Gene said he could not bring himself to use it. It would harm the man's reputation.

Once, a few years ago, he was going to do a magazine piece about a genius who had been a pretty nasty fellow. In one incident, an old manager of fighters had turned up busted, selling burial plots in a cemetery for colored people of elite status. He wanted $200 and he related, bitterly, that he had tried to touch this other fellow, only to be turned off. He had actually given this man many thousands and had paid his way all over Europe back in the golden age. Fowler gave him the $200.

Now Gene was going to do this magazine piece about the ingrate and he was going to lay it on the line for once.

I bet him $10 he would flinch. The piece came out sheer eulogy.

He first came to New York escorting a corpse for an undertaker in Denver according to legal requirements of long ago which may obtain still, for all I know. They got separated in Kansas City and there was painful confusion for several days because the first war was on and Gene had lost his draft card while he was out sightseeing and got arrested.

This was the climax of a run of hard luck. Just before he left Denver he refereed a fight in the Baker Theatre, a burlesque house, and stopped it when one of the boys went limp as he stumbled to his corner. Gene looked at his glazed eyes and spoke to the kid. There was no answer and Gene said he was going to stop it. The kid manager pulled a knife and said if Gene did he would kill him.

Fowler stopped it and the crowd booed him terribly. But he followed the boy and his handlers to the dressing room and the kid slumped back dead in his arms on the table.

"That night I learned to despise crowds," Gene said. "I was getting $15 a fight and I needed this one for the mortgage on grandma's house.

"The coroner called a jury. A friend of mine named Marty Conway got on the jury as foreman. He had a wonderful sense of humor so he kept holding out for manslaughter instead of accidental death.

"Finally, he talked the rest of them over to manslaughter, but they took a recess before voting the verdict and Marty sneaked out and disappeared for a month. So they voted manslaughter. He was a great joker. Anything for a laugh, cost me by $15 for a lawyer."

Mr. Fowler is working with Ben Hecht and me on "The Life and Death of Al Capone" but I think I will try to buy him off. He will want to canonize Capone.

Public Hearing on Mill

Washington, May 4 (AP)—The Agriculture Department announced yesterday that a public hearing would be held on a proposal to issue a federal marketing order for milk sold in New Jersey. Dairy groups in New Jersey and New York have proposed that New Jersey be incorporated in the metropolitan New York marketing area. The time and the place of the hearing will be set later. The decision for hearing was reached at a meeting attended by state officials of New York and New Jersey. Pennsylvania officials sat in as observers.

Showdown Is Near

Washington, May 4 (AP)—Northern big-city Democrats with large numbers of consumer constituents appeared to hold the balance of power today as the House neared a showdown on farm price supports. It was a repeat performance of last year's farm battle, save that the House this time is being asked to reverse last year's administration victory establishing a program of flexible price supports on basic crops.

Bride Faces Charge

Washington Court House, Ohio, May 4 (AP)—Mrs. Diana Buskirk, 15, was a bride of one day when two cars crashed near here last Sunday, killing three persons. Yesterday the young bride was charged with three counts of manslaughter. Sheriff Orland Hays, who filed affidavits against the girl in juvenile court, said she was driving without a driver's license or permit. Mrs. Buskirk is recovering in University Hospital, Columbus.

START GREAT SPANISH BASE—Construction is under way for a huge U.S. air-naval base at Rota, Spain. It will cover eight square miles, four times as big as nearby Gibraltar. For the Rota Naval Port, an estimated four million cubic yards will have to be dredged and a mile-long breakwater built. The air station, a bit inland from Rota, will have an 8000-foot runway. The $36,000,000 base is expected to be in full operation before 1959. Rota will also be the starting point of a 462-mile fuel pipeline supplying U.S. bomber bases near Seville, Madrid and Saragossa.

Suffolk Jury Is Lauded for Stand OnPrisonTrouble

Boston, May 4 (AP)—A Suffolk county grand jury which blasted top state officials in connection with last January's State Prison rebellion was praised by a Superior Court judge today for acting "courageously and wisely."

Judge Wilfred J. Paquet, who received the unprecedented report from the 22 jurors Monday, lauded them for refusing "to allow the courts, which are the great bulwark of strength in our democracy, to be used as a sham and a plaything by four desperate criminals."

Atty. Gen. George Fingold, specifically criticized in the report for seeking indictments against the four rebellious inmates, replied today that the indictments "are mandatory" to preserve law and order.

HE SAID THE principal duty of the grand jury was "to weigh evidence and determine whether it warranted indictments." It was "significant," he said, that the jurors' report did not call the evidence insufficient.

Correction Commissioner E. Lawrence Spurr, also criticized in the report, and Gov. Christian A. Herter's office declined to comment.

The 2,500 word grand jury report blasted Fingold and Spurr allegedly for agreeing that the convicts would "get a trial possibly by March 15 and that they would be released from their isolation cells and returned to the general population.

The report also charged that discipline, vigilance and security in the prison were lacking, thus enabling the four inmates to seize five guards last January and hold them 84 hours.

C of C Receives 60 Applications For Membership

Sixty new membership applications were reported at the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce office Tuesday with less than half of the reports completed. The 60 new members represent 86 contacts reported by membership workers. About 200 prospect cards were distributed.

Officials expressed great optimism that the goal of 100 new memberships would be reached before the end of the week.

A record number of 84 Chamber of Commerce membership renewals also were received at the office up to noon today, the second day after the receipt of renewal statements by members. The fiscal year started May 1.

A GOAL OF 600 paid memberships for the fiscal year ending April 30, 1956 was established and a budget prepared accordingly. The fiscal year ending April 30, 1955 closed with 505 active, paid-up members.

A spokesman for the Chamber of Commerce said that it is important that all memberships come in before June 1. Only active members as of that date will be listed in the new 1955-56 classified directory to be published in June.

Largest Flag

Detroit, May 4 (AP) — The world's largest flag is ready for its annual appearance on Flag Day, June 14. The huge flag weighs three-quarters of a ton and measures 235 by 105 feet roughly half the size of a football field. The J. L. Hudson Co. department store had it made for one-a-year display on the front of its 14-story downtown store.

Enough for a Band

Buffalo, May 4 (AP)—Police here figure someone's trying to organize a band—the hard way. In six months the Hertel music store has reported the following musical instruments stolen by burglars: Three saxophones, a trumpet, snare drum, a cymbal, three harmonicas and a guitar.

Rapids' Bazaar To Run All Week

Because of the popularity of its bazaar promoted to raise convention funds, Rapid Hose Co. No. 1 has postponed the regular meeting Thursday to May 12, it was announced today by William H. Jordan, chairman of the big social event being held in the enginehouse on Hone street, near Spring.

"Public response to our bazaar has been so good that we are continuing it through Saturday night," Chairman Jordan said. It was originally scheduled for only three days.

VARIONS BOOTHS with goods for sale are featured at the bazaar, also games for the pleasure of youngsters and elders who patronize the Rapids' event to help with expenses of the annual convention of the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association next month.

Rapids Ladies Auxiliary is active on the bazaar, under direction of Mrs. W. H. Jordan, chairman, and are welcoming friends from all over the city at their booths.

Each night the bazaar opens at 8 o'clock and runs to 11, and expectations are that it will do big business right through Saturday.

Tokens Go Up

Albany, May 4 (AP)—The Newburgh Bus Corp. plans to increase the price of tokens for single-zone rides from 5 for 55 cents to 3 for 40 cents, effective May 14. The Public Service Commission announced today that it had accepted the company's proposal to raise the token rate. There will be no change in the line's 15-cent cash fare. Newburgh Bus Corp. operates buses in Newburgh and between that city and Orange Lake, Stewart Field and Roseton. The PSC reported that the company had said it needed the increase to offset a 1954 operating loss of $1,200.

Bomb in Music Hall

New York, May 4 (AP)—A small home-made bomb found in Radio City Music Hall Monday contained enough gunpowder to kill anybody nearby, the police bomb squad said today. The bomb had been timed to explode at 6:30 p. m.—presumably Sunday night when 4,500 persons were in the theatre—but the timing device was faulty and there was no explosion. Cleaners found the bomb, a cylinder 3 inches long and 1¼ inches in diameter, wrapped in a black sock, under an orchestra seat at 4:45 a. m. Monday. The bomb squad deactivated the bomb at Ft. Tilden, Rockaway Point, Queens. They said the timing device was made from a cheap wrist watch. Sixty policemen and firemen searched the Music Hall Sunday night on an anonymous tip but failed to locate the bomb.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Here's How to Win At Bridge Table

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service

If you think that East and West bid with supreme optimism in today's hand, I'll agree with you. They managed to convince South that they could make their vulnerable game contract, so he decided to "sacrifice" in one of his five-card major suits.

South was Benjamin Mitchell, one of New York's fine players. Fulfilling the doubled contract helped Mitchell win the mixed pair championship in the recent Eastern States Tournament.

West opened a trump, hoping to reduce dummy's ruffing power. Dummy held the first trick with the eight of hearts, and Mitchell immediately led dummy's singleton spade. East naturally played low, and declarer made the key decision when he played a low card from the South hand.

West won with the jack of spades and returned another trump. As planned, this reduced dummy to one trump that could be used for ruffing.

South won the second trump in his own hand and led the king of spades. West played low, but declarer discarded from the dummy since there was no doubt in his mind about the location of the ace of spades. South continued with the queen of spades, West covered with the ace, and dummy ruffed. It was now easy for declarer to return to his hand to draw the last trump and cash the rest of the spades.

If South had put up the king or queen of spades at the second trick he would have lost his game contract. West would have taken the ace of spades and would have returned a trump. South would not be able to set up the spades and would make only nine tricks.

To Boom Lake Port

Oswego, May 4 (AP)—About 300 Industrial and shipping executives gathered today for a conference aimed at restoring this city to its prominence of 80 years ago as a Lake Ontario port. The city called the day-long "payloads conference" to show how it was preparing for the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway. It is designed to sell shippers on the idea that goods destined for European markets could be sent more cheaply by way of Oswego and the Seaway than overland to eastern seaboard ports. The sales pitch is aimed at business interests in central New York and nearby Canadian areas.

Asks Reconsideration

Cannes, France, May 4 (AP)—Bao Dai asked Viet Nam Premier Ngo Dinh Diem today to disavow all action taken by "a seditious minority which is far from representing our people and risks being carried away by the Communists." By "seditious minority" Bao Dai apparently meant the "states general" meeting in Saigon today to consider his removal as chief of state. Diem has refused to attend a conference in Cannes with Bao Dai, feeling that to leave Saigon would mean the end of the premiership.

Tentatively Agree

New York, May 4 (AP)—Bondholders of the bankrupt New York, Ontario and Western Railroad have tentatively agreed to a plan for sale of the line, it was disclosed today. This report came from Nathaniel M. Sokolski, attorney for the bondholders. He told a reporter: "There is a very good likelihood that it will go through." Under the plan, the railroad would be sold to the Samuel Pinsly Associates, Inc., for $4,600,000. However, the present bondholders would be permitted to acquire a certain percentage of the reorganized corporation's common stock. The bondholders heretofore opposed the sale plan on the grounds that they would be shut out entirely, unable to retain any interest and receiving nothing because purchase funds would have to be used to pay off railroad debts.

Ten members made the trip, arriving here Tuesday night. They will be entertained tonight at the Governor Clinton Hotel. Thursday morning, they will be taken on a tour of historic spots in and near Kingston, after which they will attend the regular luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis Club at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Thursday afternoon arrangements have been made for the delegation to visit the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, where they will be greeted by Gen. Edwin J. Messinger, commandant of cadets, a native of this city.

Repair Garage Is Badly Damaged by Fire on Tuesday

A repair garage and part of the main warehouse building of Styles Express, Inc., 71 Ten Broeck avenue were damaged in a fire yesterday afternoon, and James Reilly, of Port Ewen, an employe, suffered burns on fingers on the right hand.

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy said the one-story repair garage attached to the main concrete block building was badly damaged, and the flames spread over a partition to the roof of the main building where "15 to 20 feet of ceiling was damaged." The cause was undetermined, he said.

MEN AND EQUIPMENT from Central station and Wicks Engine Company answered the call at 4:08 p. m., and firemen used three lines of hose on the blaze, which apparently had spread rapidly after starting.

Chief Murphy said Reilly, a mechanic, was preparing to do some lettering on a vehicle just before start of the blaze. He had walked to get tools, he said, and when he returned, the fire had started on the floor.

Reilly reported the fire, backed out a tractor, and went to the main building to remove a drum of alcohol, the chief said.

TOOLS AND CONTENTS in the repair shop were damaged, as were some tires in the warehouse and building materials there owned by Walter Donnaruma, of Donnaruma & Augustine, Inc., the chief said.

Reilly suffered burns on two fingers of the right hand.

The blaze was under control in less than an hour, the chief said.

A call at 9:25 p. m., yesterday was for a brush fire on North street near the Terry brick plant. Union and Cordts hose companies responded and the blaze was checked with a booster line.

Artist—Have you seen how Slaminoff, the critic, has massacred my last painting?

Critic—Don't mind him—he just repeats, like a parrot, what everyone else is saying.

The following note was found among the effects of a businessman after his death. He had long been known for his frequent lapses into bankruptcy:

"I hereby name the following six bankers to be my pallbearers. Since they have carried me for so long during my lifetime, they might as well finish the job now."

One day an inspector of a New York tenement house found four families living in one room, chalk lines having been drawn in such a manner as to mark out a quarter for each family.

Inspector—How do you get along here?

New Yorker—Very well, only the man in the farthest corner keeps boarders.

Landlady—Just when are you going to pay your arrears of room rent?

Hard-up Author—As soon as I receive the check which the publisher will send me if he accepts the novel I am about to commence when I have found a suitable subject and the necessary inspiration.

A cynic was standing in front of an exhibition of local art talent labeled, "Art Objects."

"Well," he announced to the attendant in charge, "I should think Art would object, and I can't say that I blame Her."

A sailor ran down the wharf to catch a ship just as it was pulling out. The ship had moved off a few feet when he jumped, and when, he landed his head struck an obstruction. For a few minutes he lay stunned. When he recovered consciousness the vessel was several hundred yards away from the shore. He looked back, blinked a time or two, then shouted: "Boy! Oh, boy! Can I jump?"

Unions Remain Nonpartisan

Top Chiefs Say Merger Won't Mean Third Party

Editor's note: How far into politics is American labor prepared to go? It's a vital question as the CIO and AFL go ahead with plans to merge into a single labor organization with 15 million members. This third of five articles on the merger tells how U. S. labor leaders feel about forming a third party.

Washington, May 4 (AP)—Organized labor—15 million strong—is going deeper into U. S. politics, but the high command is strongly opposed to a political labor party such as that in Great Britain.

Labor's top chiefs say the coming merger of the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations will not mean a third party movement by labor.

UNIONS, THEY SAY, will remain an independent political force, giving allegiance neither to the Democrats nor Republicans as a party. But they concede that Democratic candidates are far more likely to benefit from labor's political action than Republican candidates.

However, there is an implied warning by some labor leaders that if unions cannot achieve their goals through the two-party system—then they may head in another direction.

AFL PRESIDENT George Meany, who will head the merged AFL-CIO organization, gave these views in an interview:

"As long as I have anything to say about it, the AFL will not tie itself to any political party. I don't believe in a labor class or a labor party along class lines such as the British Labor party. I don't believe in it just as I don't think there should be a political party in this country along denominational lines.

"There will be increased political action by labor in 1956. But political action by organized labor doesn't mean we will tie ourselves to any party. There is talk that labor is going to join forces with the Democratic party. Well, I'm not going to ties the AFL to any party, anytime, anywhere.

"THAT DOESN'T MEAN, of course, that we won't support more Democrats than Republicans because that probably will be just the way it works out. The facts are that more Democrats have favorable records from our point of view than Republicans. We aren't damn fools. We know there will have to be cooperation with political parties on the local level—but that doesn't mean we're going to tie ourselves to any one party in any shape or form."

The merged unions will make their political drive through a single organization which will be formed with the merger of the AFL's Labor League for Political Education and the CIO's Political Action Committee.

The AFL and CIO set up these political action groups after passage of the Taft-Hartley laws in 1947, which forbid unions from taking dues money out of union treasuries and spending it in support of any candidate gunning for federal office.

THESE GROUPS accept voluntary contributions from workers and since it is not dues money—there are no strings on spending it in direct support of any candidate.

But won't the effect of such political action actually mean drawing labor into closer working arrangements with the Democratic Party which now gets most of labor's support?

Meany: "I will say this. If the time should ever come when we are forced to do such a thing—tie ourselves to any party—then it will be our own party.

"We are going to try to achieve our aims on a nonpartisan basis. But if the nonpartisan effort fails, then we'll go somewhere else. We'll go where we must go. And we'll go as far down that road as it is necessary to go."

It is known that Walter Reuther, president of the CIO, and John L. Lewis, chief of the United Mine Workers, both share Meany's misgivings toward a national labor party in the United States.

Thomas Kennedy, vice president of the UMW whose views often reflect the thinking of Lewis, had this to say:

"THERE IS no need for a labor party in the United States. The American labor movement is essentially an economic movement and if it fails to realize this and to continue to act in behalf of its own membership to win better wages and working conditions through economic action, the UMW feels that it will suffer the fate of much of the European labor movement."

But there are some who believe labor should have its own state labor parties if not a national party. The viewpoint of this group was voiced last December in the CIO convention by Mike Quill, president of the Transport Workers of America. Quill said in part:

"I am afraid as we roll along year after year that we are tying ourselves tighter and tighter to the Democratic Party. . . .

"I believe . . . serious consideration should be given to building in America a really and truly independent political party of CIO, so that the workers will have the choice to stand up separately and apart from any of the existing parties. . . ."

To Quill's argument, Reuther replied:

". . . Building third parties will get no one anywhere. Every try has failed miserably, not because the motives or the reasons or the morality behind it was wrong, but because we are dealing with a structure in America that does not lend itself to the creation of third party movements. . . ."

MEANY HIMSELF believes the coming AFL-CIO merger, with the creation of a single political action department, will take labor farther away from the idea of a national labor party.

He said: "Under unified leadership, I'm convinced we will be more successful in the course which we have followed. This course is in choosing the candidates we can support without becoming a part of the political party. I think we'll be more successful in electing people who are friendly to us—and there will be even less possibility of moving in the direction of a labor party."

Tomorrow: The role of John L. Lewis.

Fill individual sponge-cake shells from the bakery with drained canned apricots; top with a fluff of whipped cream and garnish each dessert with a whole sweet strawberry. Nice for company, and quick, too.

Recognizes Family

Providence, R. I., May 4 (AP)—Jose Contreras recognized his family last night upon regaining consciousness from an emergency operation necessitated when he collapsed after losing a fight Monday night. The 28-year-old middleweight from Taunton, Mass., recognized his wife and two small children, a Rhode Island Hospital spokesman said, and was able to whisper a few words to them. Contreras collaped in his dressing room at the auditorium Monday after losing on an eighth round technical knockout to Bob Bolton of Providence.

Laborer Kills Self After Police Battle

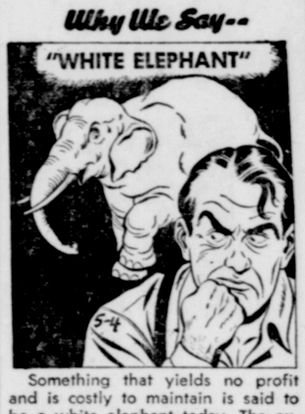
South River, N. J., May 4 (AP)—A 20-year-old discharged laborer shot and seriously wounded three women relatives early today and then killed himself during a fierce gun battle with police.

Alex Miedzwiadok was found dead on the floor of his mother-in-law's house at 14 W. Grobowiak street with his unharmed 10-month-old daughter by his side.

His mother-in-law, Mrs. Mary Kucharik, 43; sister-in-law, Margaret Kucharik, 50, and wife, Sonya, 18, lay wounded in the tear-gas filled home. They all were in fair condition at Middlesex General Hospital.

Miedzwiadok exchanged shots with police on two occasions during the night, when finally trapped and surrounded in the house. He shot the three women while exchanging shots with police.

Why We Say--



Something that yields no profit and is costly to maintain is said to be a white elephant today. The expression is derived from the fact that the white (albino) elephant was thought to be sacred in the East and had to be kept—but could not be made to perform any work.

Makes Political Sweep

Baltimore, May 4 (AP)—Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro Jr. capped a long comeback from a sickbed by leading Democrats to another sweep of city offices in Baltimore's municipal election yesterday. The 51-year-old mayor, extending his victory string to 22 races ranging from the state Legislature to Congress, defeated Republican Samuel Hopkins as a record 214,335 voters turned out. The previous high was 202,000 in 1931. Among the 21 Democrats they elected to the City Council was Walter T. Dixon, 61-year-old head of a business school and the first Negro to gain that office since 1931. Unofficial returns from all of the city's 531 precincts gave D'Alesandro 119,450 votes to 94,885 for Hopkins, 41-year-old bank official and former member of the Legislature.

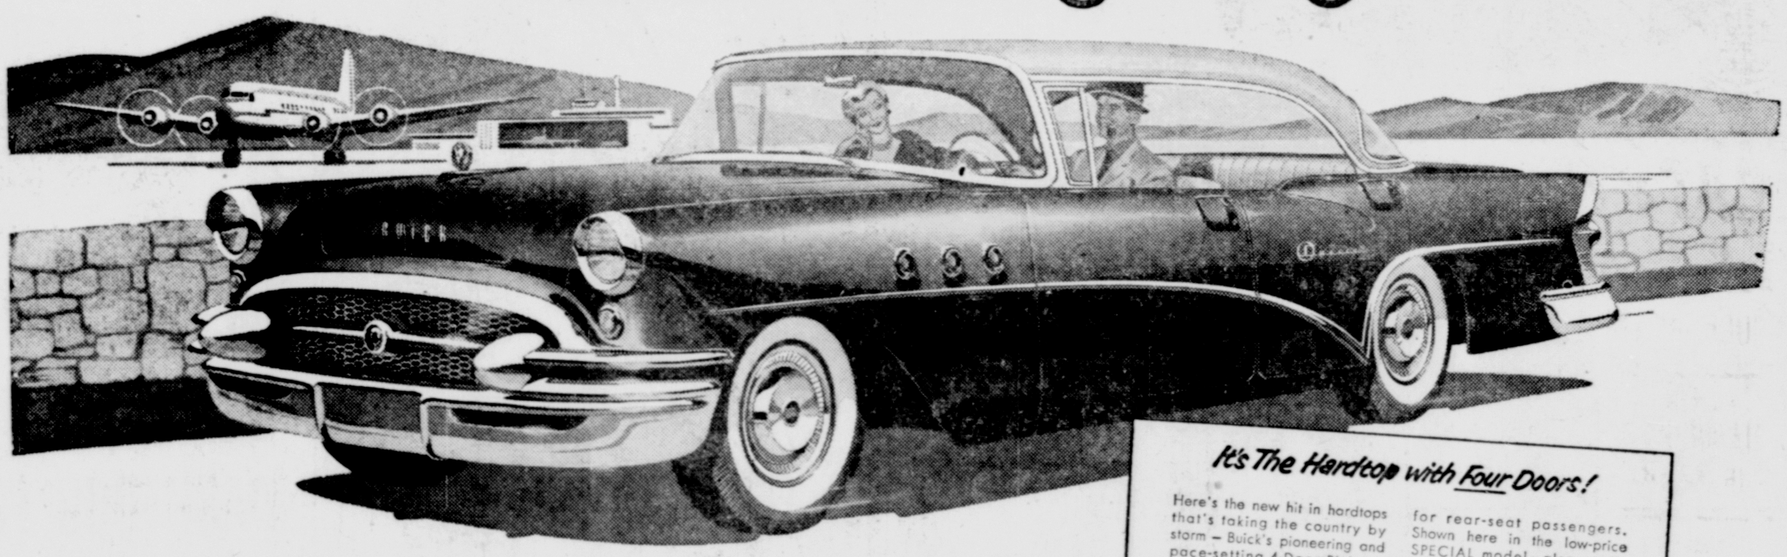
You'll feel like a pilot without leaving the ground



It's The Hardtop with Four Doors!

Here's the new hit in hardtops that's taking the country by storm – Buick's pioneering and pace-setting 4-Door Riviera. The "convertible" look, with no center posts in the side-window areas—but with separate doors for rear-seat passengers. Shown here in the low-price SPECIAL model—also available in the high-powered CENTURY Series. Both now in volume production to insure prompt deliveries.

Just wait till you switch the pitch of Buick's new Dynaflow*!

How would you like to take the wheel of a high-powered Buick and feel an experience you never felt before in any earth-bound vehicle?

How would you like to do—just by pressing down the gas pedal—what a pilot does when he's ready for take-off?

And how would you like to drive with the happy thought that you're getting plenty of miles per gallon in normal cruising—and the electrifying action of the world's first airplane-principled transmission when you need it for split-second getaway response or accelerating power?

It's all for you when you say the word and slip into the driver's seat of a new Buick with Variable Pitch Dynaflow.*

Not only do you take command of record-high Buick V8 power—and the most envied ride in the industry—and the brawn and heft and luxury of a truly solid automobile.

You also call the turn on twenty propeller-like blades deep inside a wondrous new Dynaflow that's patterned after the principle of the modern plane's variable pitch propeller.

You hold these blades in their high-economy angle when you press the pedal in the normal way—and you get a lot more miles from a tankful of gas.

You switch the pitch of these blades to take-off position when you press the pedal way down—and you get spectacular action instantly.

Don't take our word alone that this is thrilling beyond all previous experience.

Talk to anyone who's tried it. Or, better yet, come try it yourself. That way you can learn firsthand why Buick sales are soaring to all-time best-seller highs. Drop in this week, won't you?

*Dynaflow Drive is standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

the President would not take offense.

Eisenhower said it was a legitimate question. He then said that in his opinion his wife's general health the last two years has been better than it was during the previous 10.

POLITICS — A reporter recalled that Eisenhower remarked last week that his term still has 21 months to run, and that he regarded that as a long time for a man of his age. He asked whether the President kept a calendar on the wall and was checking off the months to the time when his term will expire.

Joining in the laughter, Eisenhower replied that he always does know what the month is.

FORMOSA BASES — The President said he has heard no suggestion that the United States establish a permanent military base on Formosa.

WEST GERMANY—Asked for his reaction to the imminent prospect of West Germany's winning sovereignty, Eisenhower expressed satisfaction and added he hopes the agreements reached will eliminate the friction which long has existed between the French and the German people.

YALTA PAPERS—The President said he never was consulted during the war about any postwar matter. He made that remark when asked about a Republican charge that Avereil Harriman, now New York Democratic governor, was the real architect of the Yalta agreements. Harriman was U. S. ambassador to Moscow at the time of the 1945 Yalta meeting of President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Churchill of Britain and Soviet Premier Stalin.

Eisenhower said he was not in a position to comment about Harriman's role because he, himself, had nothing at all to do with the Yalta conference.

TRANSPORTATION REPORT —The President said a cabinet committee's recent report on transportation problems was a brilliant piece of work. He said the purpose of the committee's recommendations was to increase competitive influences in the transportation field. He acknowledged, however, the controversial report, which has been criticized by trucking industry representatives, will give rise to heated discussions.

Financial and Commercial

New York, May 4 (AP)—The stock market hesitated today and then turned down in the early afternoon following a higher start.

The move backward didn't go very far—to around 2 points at the outside—and there were many good plus signs in the list.

Trading picked up speed as prices slipped, but the pace still was around 2,500,000 shares. That was a little below yesterday's 2,630,000 shares.

THE STEELS did well initially, but they fell back along with the motors, railroads, and most aircrafts.

Coppers were strong on news of a new accord in Chile production centers, but they retreated from their best levels when the selling commenced.

In recent days, the market has had a run of good news to keep it bolstered. And today there were surveys showing striking over-all improvement in the profit picture.

16 Cars Derailed

Danbury, Conn., May 4 (AP)—Sixteen cars of a 104-car freight train were derailed here early today tying up the New Haven Railroad's main freight artery between Maybrook, N. Y., and New Haven. A railroad spokesman, who reported there had been no injuries, said it would be "another 20 hours" before normal traffic was restored to the double-track right of way. The spokesman added that the cause of the derailment could not immediately be determined.

AldermenPropose

let, known as "pentstock." The reservoir, he said, needs cleaning and repairing. A heavy flow during rains, caused excess water to flow on the properties and the culvert was inadequate. He proposed cleaning the reservoir and runoff and installation of a larger culvert.

A RESOLUTION by Alderman Richard Roth, (R) 12th ward and Abram D. Relyea, (R) 11th ward, asked that Main street be placed on the agenda "for immediate repair by the contractor," because of conditions after installation of new water pipe there. It was referred to the water department.

The resolution noted that the condition was dangerous, caused property damage and dust. If suggested that if it was not repaired at once that a light covering of oil be spread to settle the dust.

It was noted today that the contractor was at work on the street. City Clerk Kramer informed the aldermen last night that he had talked to Edmund T. Cloonan, water department superintendent, and was informed that the contractor had planned to repair the street.

Alderman-at-large Kelly, noting Brandt's resolution calling for rebuilding of a fence at the top of a steep bank on Spruce street, referred it for immediate investigation by the public works department to determine who is responsible for maintaining the fence, and he advised immediate action before the city faces liability in a lawsuit.

BRANDT ALSO asked that West Union street be cleaned and patched, and that Hunter, Spruce and German streets be patched.

Other resolutions:

Arthur Smith, Eighth ward: that a traffic light be installed on Broadway at McEntee street, operating on 24-hour schedule.

Joseph Wenzel, Fourth ward: That a stop sign be placed at Larch street and Second avenue, and that the BPW be requested to study street light conditions in the Fourth Ward, especially East Chester street extension, that a 15-minute parking sign be placed in front of Carson's Market, 595 Delaware avenue, and Mayone's Market, 484 Delaware avenue. That NewkirK avenue be repaired immediately and that Third avenue, Rondout street, Rock street and First avenue be repaired.

Benjamin A. Storms, Second ward: That the west side of Albany avenue from Roosevelt avenue and Harwich street be free of parking, that a no-parking sign be placed on the north side of Harding avenue from Albany avenue to a point 100 feet on Harding avenue, that the traffic committee install two or more traffic lights on Albany avenue at points designated by the committee.

Storms also asked for a stop sign at Albany avenue and St. James street at the triangle facing south, and that "stop" be painted in the road to stop north-bound traffic on Albany avenue, the lights be placed at York place, Harding avenue and Savoy street. He asked that a light be changed from a pole on Colfax place to a pole on Madison avenue.

George P. Norton, Jr., Sixth ward: That one-hour parking signs be placed on East Strand from Buck's junk yard to the corner of Hasbrouck avenue.

Mt. Tremper

Mt. Tremper, May 3—A home-made food sale for the benefit of the Cancer drive will be held at Crosby's Market, Phoenicia, starting at 11 a. m. Saturday.

Arthur Reid returned Sunday from a four-month vacation in St. Petersburg, Fla.

Thirty-five area women attended the annual communion breakfast of the Ladies of La-Salette Society at St. Francis de Sales Parish, which was held at the Waldorf Hotel, Phoenicia, after the 9 a. m. Mass Sunday. The Rev. Edwin Egan was guest speaker. Miss Louise Jablonski, music instructor at the Onteora Central School, also was a guest of honor. Calling them "a great asset in the parish" Father Egan praised the women for their charitable work. He recounted the life of the great Jewish convert, Edith Stein. Miss Stein became a Carmelite nun, Sister Therese Benedicta, and was one of the six million Jews who were put to death in Hitler's human furnace.

Mrs. Emma Cunningham and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Withers were dinner guests of Mrs. Julia Short and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Winchell at Catskill Sunday. Mrs. Short and Mrs. Cunningham are sisters.

Judge and Mrs. William Weyman recently returned from their annual winter vacation in Florida.

Mrs. James Doyle and Mrs. Victor Ruzzo of Kingston were guests of Mrs. John Crosby Sunday.

Industrialists Calling for Increased Production for Mills

Greater Demand From Markets Strains Capacity

New York, May 4 (AP)—All that talk about American industry being over expanded—is it outdated already?

Some top industrialists are saying so today and calling for further increases in the capacity of mills and factories to keep in step with the increased consumer demand they foresee.

Just one year ago it was fashionable in some circles to say that the great postwar spurt of building new plants and buying new equipment had given the United States a production capacity well in excess of current civilian consumer demand.

IT WOULD BE quite some time, they said, before civilian demand—if unsupported by an additional huge defense production—would catch up and keep all those facilities busy.

But now plans for future expansion are being announced by the corporate leaders in many industries.

The basic industry steel is a good example of this switch over in thinking.

Between 1950 and 1954 it increased its capacity by one fourth. Last year the leaders in the industry were saying that present capacity of 124,300,000 tons a year should be enough for at least five years more.

THIS WEEK the nation's steel mills are set to turn out 2,328,000 tons, according to the American Iron & Steel Institute. This would top the record set in March 1953.

And today at least five of the top men in the industry are on record as saying another round of building more mills and upgrading old equipment must be started.

THE REASON: The steady increase in the nation's population and — more importantly — the increase in the standard of living. Steelmen believe Americans will be buying more cars, more appliances, building more offices, stores and homes, more bridges, schools and highways.

Benjamin F. Fairless, in his Swan Song as he steps down from the chairmanship of the Board of U. S. Steel, says his company to keep in step must add more than one million tons of new capacity each year.

Eugene G. Grace, chairman of Bethlehem Steel, the nation's second largest producer, says his company should add eight million tons of capacity in the next 10 years.

E. T. WEIR, chairman of National Steel, says the industry is using all of its first class equipment today and now faces the problem of further development.

W. W. Sebald, president of Armco Steel, and Avery C. Adams, president of Pittsburgh Steel, join in the call for another round of expansion.

This expansion of basic steel production capacity will be accompanied by upgrading of the facilities for making finished products.

THE RAPID development of new and better products in many industries has called for specialized steels. The jet age in aircraft, for example, demands new alloys. And the metalworking industry is busy meeting the demand.

Steelmen do not pretend to believe that this week's record output pace will be repeated week after week for the rest of the year. They expect a lull to come along this summer as usual when many of their chief consumers close down for factory vacations or for model changeovers.

But a steel plant isn't built in a day. The expansion they are talking of is to meet the needs of a rising standard of living two, five, ten years from today.

Getting Used to Jibes

Harrison, N. J., May 4 (AP)—It's been tough, but a bus driver here finally is getting used to his passengers' wisecracks about the wild frontier and the song they sing about the old west. It takes just a glance at the driver's nameplate on the bus to start the passengers' "serenade." This driver's name is Davey Crockett.

Deckhand Drowns

Perth Amboy, N. J., May 4 (AP)—A 52-year-old dredge deckhand fell into Staten Island Sound and drowned yesterday. Witnesses said Olaf Johansson of Brooklyn, floundered for a time before he went under. Other deckhands jumped in to save him but reached him too late. Johansson worked for the Morris and Cummings Co., of New York.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By HAL BOYLE

New York (AP)—If you are worried about your health, here is a consoling thought—you probably won't die laughing.

Laughter never has been a leading cause of death in any civilized country, and the danger of it knocking you off in this country is diminishing every year.

"We're a sober lot—and getting soberer," said Charles Morton, a thoughtful humorist who never lets the foibles of a confused world disturb his own wry good cheer.

"IT IS BECOMING more difficult for us to laugh at ourselves. Everybody's terribly cautious. They're afraid of offending someone. As the money stakes get higher and our enterprises larger, everything seems to become desperately serious.

"This is too bad. There is enough that is upside down in this world to warrant anybody having a good big belly laugh."

Morton, associate editor of "The Atlantic Monthly," is one of the few remaining masters of the light article, a deft humor form brightened by such predecessors as Stephen Leacock and Robert Benchley. After surviving the feminine indignation aroused by his book on "How to Protect Yourself Against Women and other Vicissitudes," Morton has come out with a new and equally funny guidebook to current "stuffed-shirt-isms" called "A Slight Sense of Outrage."

AMONG OTHER things Morton is outraged by are V-necked men's pajamas ("AA men with their collars off look like picked chickens") and writers who describe bananas as "the elongated yellow fruit" and billiard balls as "The numbered spheroids."

He has a theory on how a sense of humor develops and how a humorist differs from normal people.

"Assuming a child is ordinalily intelligent and has a sense of proportion," he said, "he tends to believe what grownups tell him. He realizes they are older and have lived longer.

"BUT AT SOME point he discovers that an enormous amount of what they have told him is baloney—pure moonshine — and that they don't know what they are talking about.

"This seems amusing to him and excites his sense of comedy because it is funny to see people actually believing the ridiculous things they say. It also seems funny for him to reflect they had him believing this guff, too.

"Thus humor is an awakening, a discovery. But, unfortunately, if he is normal, in time this sense of comedy evaporates. He no longer is excited or amused by the crazy things people do or say. He himself becomes one of the older people who say and do things that are manifestly absurd.

"THE WHEEL has turned full circle.

"But there are a few people who never get over it, who never grow up. Thus it could be interpreted that a light writer is a case of arrested development."

Morton lit up a cigar and cheerfully admitted that he was in no hurry to grow up himself.

IN AN AGE of speed everything comes and goes faster. The lightning wisecrack and the one-line cartoon gag now characterize the nation's comedy. The leisurely light humorous essay is slowly dwindling.

"There are few markets left for it," said Morton, who says he wouldn't advise any mother to try to raise her boy to be a light writer.

"She couldn't do it anyway," he added. "No one who writes a good piece knows exactly how or why he was able to. All he knows is that it warms him in a strange way."

First steam ferryboat in the world began operation in 1811 between Hoboken, N. J., and New York city.

Junior League Gives $500 to Start Reading Center

The Junior League of Kingston voted at the May meeting held Monday evening to allocate for a 12-month period the sum of $500 to be used toward the development of the Mid-Hudson Reading Center. The reading center, still in the formative stage, is a plan initiated through the efforts of Dr. Herbert Johnson and would, the League feels, represent a service that would greatly benefit not only this community, but the area at large.

At the request of the members, Mrs. Herbert Johnson appeared before the group to answer further questions concerning the project and emphasized particularly the part League members could play in aiding such a program. It has been pointed out that the over all average of children reading below grade level is at the minimum 15 per cent and in order to adequately correct these difficulties, at the present time parents of this area are forced to seek help as far away as Syracuse or New York city.

It was announced by the president that Mrs. Robert MacKinnon and Mrs. Raymond Garraghan will represent the Junior League at the 33rd annual conference of Association of Junior Leagues of America, Inc. to be held at Sun Valley, Idaho, from May 9 through May 13. Two delegates from each of the 183 Junior Leagues in the United States, Canada, Mexico, and Hawaii will attend the conference. Twenty-three workshops will be conducted, with the emphasis on the various phases of community planning and cooperation.

Mrs. William Anderson gave a seasonal talk on gardening, emphasizing suggestions for gardens that would require a minimum of time and effort, yet would afford pleasure for the gardener.

The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Raymond Garraghan, president. Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Arthur Hazenbush, Mrs. George Bushnell, Mrs. David C. Cates and Miss Carolyn Newkirk held at the home of Mrs. Hazenbush.

Few Change Minds

Hartford, Conn., May 4 (AP)—State Health Commissioner Stanley H. Osborn says only a few Connecticut parents have withdrawn permission to have their children receive free Salk polio vaccine inoculations. He said reports throughout the state show little change of mind among parents on their original consent.

Good Taste Today

By EMILY POST

(Author of Etiquette, Children Are People, etc.)

KISSING IN PUBLIC

The following question is from a young woman: "Will you please express your opinion of couples, who are engaged, kissing in public? My fiance lives out of town and comes to see me every few weeks. Upon his arrival and departure either at the bus, or railroad station, we naturally kiss each other, and mother says this is in bad taste anywhere in public between people who are obviously sweethearts and that our kissing should be done at home."

Putting propriety aside, I agree with your mother that it would be much more romantic to be kissed in a less public place than a railroad station or a bus terminal, although it is quite true that brief welcome and farewell kisses are about the only ones not under public ban.

A Young Boy's Clothes

Dear Mrs. Post: My fourteen-year-old son has been invited to go with a young girl to her junior prom. I understand the girls are going to wear long party dresses. Will you please tell me what my son should wear? Is a navy blue suit a must, or could he wear unmatching trousers and jacket? He wears this type of clothes all the time and I hate to have to go out and buy him a navy blue suit which I know he will not want to wear later.

Answer: A navy blue suit is best taste, but I agree that it would be very foolish to buy a suit to be worn only once. I do think, however, that a suit of matching color would be better than unmatching slacks and a jacket at a dance—unless, of course, all the other boys wear the same thing.

Long or Short Gloves?

Dear Mrs. Post: The wedding dress I have chosen has short cap sleeves and I had planned to wear short white gloves with it. My sister insists that short gloves are wrong with a short-sleeved dress and that I should wear long gloves. Will you please tell me which is correct?

Answer: I agree with your sister that long gloves should be worn—if possible. Bare arms on a bride do not seem quite right.

MRS. RUDOLPH KOEHN, the former Jacqueline Stoly, whose wedding took place Sunday afternoon in St. Mary's Church, Saugerties. (Johnstone photo)

Jacqueline Stoly, Rudolf Koehn Wed In Saugerties Church

Saugerties, May 4—St. Mary's Church in Saugerties was the scene of the wedding of Miss Jacqueline Marie Stoly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Stoly of Oakledge Park, Saugerties, to Rudolph Koehn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Trams of High Woods. The double ring ceremony was performed Sunday, May 1, at 3 p. m. by the Rev. Charles G. Burke, pastor of St. Mary's Church.

The sanctuary was decorated with gladioli and chrysanthemums. Martin Kelly, soloist of Saugerties, sang the traditional nuptial music to the accompaniment of Mrs. William C. Plimley, organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a floor length gown of imported Swiss embroidered nylon tulle. A fitted bodice and scoop neckline with scalloped embroidered edge held the delicate little cap sleeves with gauntlets. Her redingote type skirt fanning out into a circular sweep train in back contrasted the framing four tiers of embroidered tulle forming the front of gown.

Her headpiece consisted of a tiny five point pearl crown of pleated nylon tulle which supported a three-tier imported French illusion veil with scalloped edge of imported Swiss embroidered nylon tulle matching the gown. She carried a prayer book adorned with a small cascade of sweet peas, lily of the valley, white orchid and ivy.

Sister of the bride, Sandra Stoly of Oakledge Park, wore a floor length gown of ballerina blue dotted nylon net with dior bodice and a cascade of ruffles forming the skirt. Her headpiece was a crown hat of pleated nylon net and lily of the valley which with the mitts matched the gown. She carried a cascade of yellow roses with ivy.

Bridesmaids, Miss Kathleen Snyder and Miss Estella Higgins both of Saugerties were attired in gowns of similar style as the honor attendant in lilac. Miss Helen Bach and Miss Jean LaHoud also of Saugerties wore the same style gowns in maize and Miss Lorraine LaRocca of Bayshore, L. I., was similarly styled in nile green. Each carried a cascade of pink roses with ivy.

The flower girl, May Lay of Kingston, wore a gown of ballerina blue nylon tulle with off-shoulder effect, fitted bodice and mitts to match. Her headpiece was bonnet shaped matching the gown. She carried a basket of yellow roses and petals.

The best man was Carl Hoffman of Poughkeepsie and the ushers included brothers of the bridegroom, Ernest Koehn and Peter Koehn of High Woods; Ronald Johnstone of Oakledge Park, Bruce Van Derbeck of Malden and Rodney Taylor of Pennsylvania. The child ring bearer was John Stoly, brother of the bride.

A dinner reception for 325 guests was held in the Crystal Room of the Gov. Clinton Hotel in Kingston where Frankie Zano and his orchestra played for dancing.

For the wedding journey to Canada the bride chose for her traveling ensemble a pink and white check imported Swiss cotton dress trimmed with lace and pink and blue accessories and a fur stole. She wore an orchid corsage.

The bride, a graduate of Wilford Academy, New York city and Saugerties High School was employed at Arthur's Hair Studio in Catskill.

The bridegroom also a Saugerties High School graduate is a veteran of two years in the army. He is employed with the bride's father, operator of the Pine Knoll Dairy in Malden-on-Hudson.

Upon return from the wedding journey the newlyweds will make their home with the bride's parents at Oakledge Park, Saugerties.

no body is smoother than the body that comes out of a Sardo bath

What is Sardo? It's a new formula, just developed by a chemist, that you drop into your bathtub water so you come out silken and smooth all over. Because Sardo works under water, not an extra second is spent anointing yourself. Frankly we believe the chemist tired of grubbing for blades among all the lotions and creams his wife bought and found no time to use . . . and that's how Sardo happened.

Walk into your Sardo tub with chapped hands, chafed legs, rough elbows, dry skin. Walk out like Venus rising from the sea, positively velvety. It's just this side of amazing. Housewives tried it. Career gals tried it. Even an independent lab (male) tested it . . . all raved.

Sardo is actually a rich oil that breaks into tiny globules when it hits warm water. You can barely see them, barely feel them . . . but they go into action the minute you get into the tub . . . smoothing, nourishing dry skin.

Sardo smoothes you all over (ever try to cream between your shoulder blades?). Sardo smoothes while you bathe (how often do you skip your anti-dry skin lotion because you're too busy or just plain tired?). Sardo won't leave you, your towel, or your sheets sticky or greasy.

Sardo is as wonderful for the kids as for you. You use only a bottle cap-ful per tub, so Sardo costs just pennies a day. And, if you're not delighted, your money will be refunded. So why wait?

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM A. WILSON leave for the reception at Cedar Grove Inn following their wedding Saturday afternoon in St. Thomas Church, Veteran. (Johnstone photo)

Virginia Parker, William A. Wilson Nuptials Are Held

Saugerties, May 4—Miss Virginia Rose Parker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Parker of Malden-on-Hudson, was united in marriage to William A. Wilson, son of Mrs. James Smith of New York city and Charles Wilson of Winnipeg, Canada, Saturday, April 30, at 1 p. m. The double ring ceremony was performed at St. Thomas Church in Veteran by Father Richard of the Assumptionists Fathers of Meadowside, Barclay Heights. The sanctuary was decorated with white gladioli and pompons. Miss Gail Walbroehl of Veteran played the traditional nuptial music on the organ.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a gown of white organdy over taffeta and a fingertip veil of illusion with scalloped edge. She carried white orchids on a Missal with a shower of Lily of the Valley.

Her sister, Mrs. Dorothy Faraday of New York city served as honor attendant and she wore a gown of cornflower blue figured organdy. Her bouquet consisted of a colonial bouquet of Mamie Eisenhower and white carnations.

The best man was James Smith of New York city and Barry Frisbie of Veteran, nephew of the bride, served as usher.

Following the ceremony a dinner reception for 50 guests was held at the Cedar Grove Inn on Old Kings road, Cedar Grove.

For the wedding journey to Canada the bride chose for her traveling ensemble a charcoal grey cashmere suit, black sailor hat and black and white accessories.

The bride attended St. Paul the Apostle Parochial School and High School of Commerce, both in New York, and is employed in the Catskill business office of the New York Telephone Company in Catskill.

The bridegroom attended Rigs O'Marlow School in Chestertown, Md., and graduated from Haaren High School in New York city. He is a veteran of four years with the navy serving as a Machinist mate Second class in the ETO. He is employed as a machinist at Ferroxcube Corporation in Saugerties.

Upon their return from the wedding journey they will make their home in Malden-on-Hudson.

Teacher Need Desperate

Washington, May 4 (AP)—The teacher shortage is still desperate, the National Education Assn. (NEA) said today. The association's annual report said the immediate problem is to get into the classrooms qualified teacher candidates who will be coming out of the nation's colleges next month. The worst problem is in the elementary grades now, but the report said high school officials are aware of the "impending tide" expected to descend on them later and are faced "with disaster if the teacher supply trend is not sharply and decisively reversed."

Boy Scout News

Baptist Scouts First at Rally

Performing before one of the largest gatherings to attend a scout rally in many years, Boy Scout Troop 6, sponsored by the First Baptist Church under the direction of Robert E. Hillis, scoutmaster, captured first place in the annual Kingston District rally held Tuesday evening.

Competition in the various events listed for boy scout participation "was rugged," according to a scout official. This observation was given added weight by the fact that only one point separated the winning Troop 6 from second place winner Troop 3, sponsored by St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church. Troop 9, Redeemer Lutheran Church, was in third place.

THERE WERE 12 Troops and two Explorer Posts of the Kingston area participating in the competitive events of tripod building, first aid, wheelbarrow race, Morse signalling, knot tying relay, and a chair-carry race.

Six Cub Packs were in the line of march of the parade which originated at the corner of Albany avenue and Broadway and proceeded down Broadway to the Municipal Auditorium. Behind the massed colors paraded the Cub Scouts, then Troop 12 Drum Corps, and the scout troops followed.

CUB PACK 5, sponsored by the Jewish Community Center sang a medley of cub scout songs; Pack 12 of the First Dutch Church presented an Indian dance complete with costumes; and Pack 19 representing the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 1386, offered "A Year of Fun in the Cub Scout Program," a walkaround with appropriate costumes for the 12-month theme of the year.

Kingston District Commissioner Edward E. Safford was in charge of the program, assisted by Neighborhod Commissioners Gordon Craig, Jr., John Spader, and J. Wesley Drake. Assisting in arrangements and judging of the contests were: Alvin Baltz, Allen McCorkle, Robert Stedge, and Irving Kotrady of the Junior Chamber of Commerce; William Stopher, Arthur Peck, Arnold Johnson, David Ennis, George Flemming, and John Mearns of the New York Telephone Company; and Kingston District Leaders Frank Bourke and Hugo Schlatter.

RIBBONS for the three winning troops and all participating units were presented by Scout Executive George V. Dennis.

The closing ceremony, an Indian benediction, was given by the Order of The Arrow, an honorary camping fraternity of the Boy Scouts of America. This ceremony was under the direction of local Lodge Chief Richard Spoth, a member of Post 11 sponsored by the St. James Methodist Church.

Genoa, Italy, May 4 (AP)—A million dollar collection of masterpieces by the great portrait painter Van Dyck today were unloaded under heavy guard from the Italian liner Saturnia for a two-month Genoa exhibition. Linda Divorces Tyrone

Santa Monica, Calif., May 4 (AP)—As a prelude to her departure for Spain for a movie, actress Linda Christian divorced Tyrone Power yesterday and obtained a million-dollar property settlement from him, then beat efforts of a New York jewelry firm to cause her arrest. Van Vleef and Arpels, the jewelers, asked for Miss Christian's detention on the representation that she has steadfastly refused to disclose the whereabouts of $132,500 worth of jewels the firm sold to Robert H. Schlesinger of Milwaukee. The concern says Schlesinger has refused to pay for the gems and Miss Christian says Schlesinger gave them to her, that they are hers, u equivocably, and that she ga no consideration to Schlesing and did not promise to mar him. Superior Court Jud Clarence L. Kincaid, after hea ing arguments for an hour, c cided there had not been su cient showing "for such a dra tic remedy as civil arrest."

Three Jobs Abolished

Philadelphia, May 4 (AP)—The City Civil Service Commission abolished three jobs yesterday—wagon shop foreman, wheelwright and wheelwright helper. It took the action after learning that philadelphia now has only three horse-drawn wagons remaining in service. But no one lost his job. The city, with an eye to the future, never replaced men who retired from these posts.

SOCIALLY SPEAKING

By MARIANNE DAVIS

Busy mother Mrs. Donovan Buehring of 165 Highland avenue says "Some people have the admirable quality of being able to budget time" but believes in taking "first things first, with leeway for the unexpected which might be of more service." Succeeds with her philosophy in position of teacher of special education at George Washington School, a full-time job, presidency of Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts, Inc., which demands several weekly meetings plus planning sessions as well as housework chores which are completed Saturdays cooperatively. She believes in youngsters learning to be independent. Talks events over with 13-year old daughter, Sandra, encouraging her to make her own schedule of voice and piano lessons and practice and Scout work. As soloist in the MJM chorus, Sandra feels music is important to her, concentrates on it . . . Mrs. Buehring drops Sandra at her meetings evenings, calling for her "in between discussions" or after Scout, P-TA or Delta Kappa Gamma teachers' honorary, are finished. Managed skating parties all winter this way. Both sing in St. James Methodist Church choir, with Mrs. Buehring believing strongly in development of "spiritual values" in youngsters . . . Family takes off for the country weekends for picnics and fishing. Mr. and Mrs. Buehring join friends for golf foursomes at Twaalfskill and are even in a group learning the latest mambo and rhumba steps . . . Mrs. B. says her husband encourages her many club activities, and is a help with projects such as "Rip Van Winkle" background for play last year . . . Mrs. Buehring now in midst of planning speech for DKG convention in Rochester but usually gets important points done only "three days ahead of event," in planning sessions with Senior Girl Scouts, plus camp weekends, arranging first breakdown of membership in Southeastern Zone of Teachers for fall meeting, and was in The Freeman office for a few spare minutes before dashing to a workshop in New Paltz where she acted as consultant Friday morning, talking on self-contained classroom with her own as model . . . To the question, Do you ever feel overburdened, the quick answer was, "Sometimes. But I just take a deep breath and go on. Because all the activities seem so worth while."

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Buley have returned to their home in West Hurley after spending the winter in Palm Beach.

Dr. Glenn D. Van Gaasbeek of 78 Maiden Lane has resumed his practice in Kingston after completing the tour of duty with the army. For the past two years, Dr. Van Gaasbeek has been in charge of all surgery at the Army Hospital at Fort Crowder, Mo.

MR. AND MRS. FRANK Murphy of 86 Foxhall avenue entertained on their eighth wedding anniversary with a dinner at Judie's Restaurant Wednesday evening, April 27 . . . Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Huben of Rosendale.

Miss May Heybruck was feted at a birthday dinner last Thursday evening at Judie's given by 25 co-employes at Skyline Manufacturing Company . . . Mrs. Delia Richards was in charge of arrangements.

MISS SALLY GALLAGHER cites the YWCA Sketch Class exhibit this week as "a chance for my friends to see me when I'm not laughing" . . . She's not talking about her reaction to her own paintings, which are lovely oils, but to the serious portrait of her done by Mrs. Charles Arnold . . . Mrs. William Murray points out that the once a week class conducted by Miss Emily D. B. Hoysradt gives the 15 members a chance to paint by providing a set time and place. They say they would all "let the time slide by" without picking up brush and paint, although several are such devoted hobbyists they spent some time in Rockport, Mass., last summer in additional art study . . . Exhibit began with tea-time Monday, will be at the YWCA for the public to view this week.

TRAILSWEEPERS meeting for annual dinner at Deanie's restaurant in Woodstock Saturday evening at 7:30 p. m. . . . Climaxes active season of skiing at local centers of Belleayre and Highmount as well as treks north to Canada and New England resorts, with added attractions recently of hiking . . . Officers for the coming year are Mrs. John Cerasaro, president, John J. Van Steenburgh, Jr., vice president, Miss Mary Fuller, secretary and Donald Donahue, treasurer.

Add look-alikes: Fashion commentator Helen Davenport and TV commentator Faye Emerson . . . Mrs. Davenport answered query, "But aren't you Faye . . .?" in New York the other p. m. with smiling, "No, but it happens all the time."

A luncheon was given for sponsors of Welcome Wagon Service at the Governor Clinton Hotel Monday . . . Attending were Mrs. Madelyn Comstock, Kingston hostess, Mrs. Elaine Bentien of Red Hook, supervisor of Welcome Wagon Service in the area who answered questions for the sponsors and Mrs. Gifford Beal, who was introduced as assistant hostess to Mrs. Comstock, and who will also make welcoming calls to newcomers in Kingston.

Stang, Council

it effective, if acted upon before July 1.

"INASMUCH as this question affects a great many people, both as landlords and tenants," the mayor said, "I respectfully suggest that your honorable body give this matter serious consideration to the end that should it be advisable to retain the controls, appropriate action be taken at the June meeting."

"If no action is taken at the June meeting, there will still be an opportunity at a later date to put the controls back into effect, if there are evidences of abuses of decontrol."

IN HIS LETTER on the proposal to close city hall offices Saturdays in July and August, the mayor noted that this has been "a common practice" in many municipalities in the state, including state and county employes. Many businesses do the same, he said.

He proposed a local law to amend the charter to permit the closing of the offices during those months, and the law was given its first reading last night with the second and third scheduled for the June session.

The mayor said "It has been brought to my attention that not one complaint was received as the result of similar legislation last year." He noted that the city treasurer's office would remain open on the last Saturday in August to permit payment of school taxes then.

A PROPOSAL by the local chapter, Civil Service Employes Association would close the offices Saturdays, Sundays and holidays throughout the year. It was forwarded to the laws and rules committee.

The letter, signed by Leon Studt, president, asked that the council consider favorable action in view of the modern trend of governmental offices throughout the state. A measure in the last session of the state legislature, he said, opened the way for local sanction on the proposal.

Another letter from the association, signed by Studt, asked that the council be thanked for its action in providing for the three weeks vacation for qualified employes.

MAYOR STANG'S letter on the tree - preservation project noted that the city is known for its beautiful trees, and they should be preserved. A study revealed that those at city hall grounds and Academy Green Park required attention and the BPW proposed that Aboreal Associates do the work at a cost of $776.

A request by the New York Central railroad to keep the one side of Hasbrouck avenue and Grand street clear of automobiles was referred to the traffic committee. The letter signed by S. J. Keating, trainmaster, said cars parked close to the right-of-way, east of Grand street and south of Hasbrouck avenue. Often train crews removed the cars, he said, and he proposed restricting parking in order to avoid injury or property damage.

Smith Avenue Storage Warehouse Moving Co., petitioned for a zoning change, and it was referred to the laws and rules committee. A letter on the proposal said the company is interested in buying land on First avenue near the city line, and was informed that it is in the residential area. A warehouse would be built there, the letter said.

ON RECOMMENDATION of the traffic committee it was voted to prohibit parking on the south side of Third avenue from Delaware avenue to High street, and on both sides of Converse street from North Front to the entrance of the uptown merchants' parking grounds.

Mayor Stang, in a letter informed the council, of reports by City Engineer Arthur F. Hallinan, that it would be necessary to make available $5,902.28 for work done on the recent Gill street sewer project, and for $1,689.91, for extra work on the Wilkie avenue project. The requests were left with the finance committee.

C. M. Hatcher, of East Orange, N. J., indicated a claim for $26.45 to cover the cost of a tire, which he said, was damaged when his car struck a hole on Route 9-W, (apparently East Chester street) in the city. He requested "proper claim papers."

PAYMENT of a claim of $31 filed by Louis B. Catanzaniti, of Second avenue was authorized paid. It was for damage to an automobile because a defect in the First avenue road surface. It was noted that the road was temporarily closed because of the condition.

The council voted to accept deeds for Sharon Lane property and on a portion of another street development known as Westbrook place.

Krock Praised

New York, May 4 (AP)—The advisory board on Pulitzer Prizes has cited, for the second time, Arthur Krock, of the New York Times, for distinguished correspondence from Washington. The citation was contained in a resolution approved by the board on Krock's retirement from its membership under a rule that he proposed. The new rule limits tenure of board members to three terms of four years each. The resolution said the board "accepts with great regret" his decision to retire from membership and "recognizes the deepest gratitude the distinguished services he has given to the Pulitzer Prizes."

'Mad Bomber' Is Hunted in N. Y.

New York, May 4 (AP)—Authorities pressed a hunt today for a "mad bomber" believed to have planted about a dozen crude bombs found in various parts of the city in the past two years.

Additional detectives have been assigned to railroad stations, bus terminals and large theatres. They were told to watch for persons carrying suspicious looking packages.

The police order last night followed the discovery on Monday of a crude cylinder bomb in the huge Radio City Music Hall.

The bomb, with its clock set to go off at 6:30 p. m. Sunday when the theatre was full of people, was described as "powerful enough to possibly kill any one near the point of explosion." The timing device failed.

Dismantling Completed

Berlin, May 4 (AP)—U. S. Army engineers completed the dismantling of the Soviet tank memorial in the American sector today and turned it over to the Russians. The memorial was badly defaced by irate Germans and the Soviets agreed to its removal. They built a new one, symbolic of the first tank to enter Berlin 10 years ago, just inside their zone.

Union Hose to Meet

A meeting of Union Hose Co., No. 4 will be held Thursday at 8 p. m. Plans for the June convention will be discussed. All members are requested to attend.

Woodstock to Get Food Market on Old School Site

A Grand Union market will be erected on the former Woodstock school property. Construction will begin as soon as the former school building has been moved to the rear of the property and plans now in process of being prepared are completed. It is expected the new market will be open late this fall.

Negotiations have been under way for some time between the Grand Union officials and the Woodstock Industrial Park, Inc., present owners of the property.

THE BUILDING will be of one story construction and reportedly will not be in the usual style of architecture common to Grand Union markets but of a suburban type which will blend with the rural surroundings of the village.

Work of moving the school building from the present location will begin immediately. Arnold S. Rymkevitch of Boiceville has the contract to move the structure.

The premises was purchased by Jack Citroen of Woodstock in 1950 when the new Woodstock school was opened. The building was leased for a time but has been vacant of late. No plans for use of the former school building have been made at this time, it was stated.

Mother of the Year Stresses Child Love

New York, May 4 (AP)—A bit of advice to parents everywhere from the American Mother of the Year:

"Love your children with all your hearts; love them enough to discipline them before it is too late."

Also, says 75-year-old Mrs. Lavina Christensen Fugal:

"A child should know discipline by the age of 3. Forget little things they do wrong that are not important. Praise them for important things, even if you have to stretch them a bit."

Mrs. Fugal, a hard-working farm widow from Pleasant Grove, Utah, was interviewed yesterday at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel during a series of activities for her that will last through Friday.

Move Is Rejected

Washington, May 4 (AP)—A House Appropriations Subcommittee has rejected a move aimed at avoiding a planned cut of 75,000 in army strength during the coming fiscal year. Rep. Flood (D.-Pa.) disclosed today he had failed in an effort to get the subcommittee to add about 750 million dollars to funds for the army during the year starting July 1.

Chernys and Subway Grill Cop Secondary Softball Openers

Stop Local 59 And Kaplan Bag By Wide Margins

Temple Gives 6 Hits; Hunt Hurls 7-Hitter

Chernys whipped Local 259 (ILGWU), 10 to 1, and Subway Grill overpowered Kaplan Bag, 13-2, in secondary City Softball League openers yesterday.

Scores of two other openers were not reported for publication and the results are unknown.

B. TEMPLE scattered six hits for Chernys and pitched shutout ball after the first inning. The winners collected only six safeties off Jack Ferraro and Lou Secreto, including a double by Temple and a homer by Don Wallace.

P. Post rapped two singles for Chernys and T. Gallo smacked a brace for Local 259. A flock of walks and errors helped swell the Cherny run total.

Subway Grill raked Danny Basch for nine doubles and a trio of triples for their easy 13-2 triumph.

AL HUNT checked the Bagmen on seven hits and didn't yield a run until Subways had built up a 10-2 lead in the sixth.

Bob Schatzel stroked a pair of doubles and a single. Tommy Maines matched that performance and Les Barringer cracked a single, double, triple for the Grills.

Kaplan, Levy and Schechter each had two hits for the losers.

NASHUA SOUNDS OFF—William Woodward Jr.'s Nashua, a favorite in the Kentucky Derby May 7, whinnies in its stable at New York's Aqueduct race track.

Nashua Probable 4-5 Favorite in the Derby

Louisville, Ky., May 4 (AP)—The field for Saturday's running of $125,000 added Kentucky Derby today stood at eight definite and two probable starters following Flying Fury's thrilling but unimpressive victory in the Derby Trail.

On the definite list, as they have been all week, are Nashua, Summer Tan, Swaps, Racing Fool, Flying Fury, Jean's Joe, Blue Lem and Honeys Alibi. The two probables are Nabesna and Trim Destiny.

SHOULD ALL 10 start the race will gross $152,500 with the winner taking down a net of $108,400. Thanks to an increase of $25,000 in added money by Churchill Downs, the race is the richest in its 81 years.

Post time is 4:30 p. m. Eastern Standard Time. From 4:15 to 4:45 the race will be carried on 212 Radio and 163 television stations by the Columbia Broadcasting system.

There was nothing in the result of the trial yesterday to jar any of the followers of Nashua and Summer Tan.

PARI-MUTUEL officials predicted the big bay from William Woodward's Belair Stud will open at 4 to 5 and possibly go off at even shorter odds. Nashua picked up additional supporters, both among horsemen and laymen, yesterday when he stepped a mile in one minute, 37 3/5 seconds. The Derby record of 2:01 2/5 is held by Whirlaway. It was set in 1941.

Summer Tan, carrying the hopes of Mrs. John W. Galbreath of Galloway, Ohio, was quoted at 2 to 1 with Rex Ellsworth's Swaps, choice of the west, third in line at 6 to 1.

Frisco Rebel Top Money At Saratoga

Saratoga Springs, May 4 (AP)—Frisco Rebel, a pacer, has drawn the top price of $13,000 at the annual spring standardbred sale.

Clarence Franklin, an agent, bought the 5-year-old horse yesterday. It was consigned by Michael Holowczak of Red Hook.

Frisco Rebel paced the mile in 2:02.4/5 at Saratoga Raceway as a 4-year-old. The time was four-fifths of a second above the world record of a half-mile track for a 4-year-old pacer.

The next highest price was $8,000 paid by L. James Risedorph of Gloversville for Mediator, a 3-year-old trotter and a Hambletonian eligible. The trotter was consigned by H. A. Dunn of Syracuse.

At the one-day sale, 147 horses were sold for $126,940.

Jug Chief Captures Roosevelt Feature

Westbury, May 4 (AP)—After losing two straight, Jug Chief returned to winning form at Roosevelt Raceway last night by finishing first in the Rockville Centre pace. The 4-year-old won by half a length over Buffalo Street in 2:04.1. Up Top was third.

Jug Chief, owned by the Newport Stock Farm, of South Plainfield, N. J., and driven by Ben Morgan, paid $14.90, $6.60 and $4.

A perfectly executed squeeze play and a wild throw on a steal play decided two tight Ulster County Athletic League baseball games yesterday.

In one, Highland High notched its first victory of the season with a 2-1 squeaker over Onteora Central.

In the other, New Paltz cashed in a perfectly executed squeeze to nip Wallkill, 7 to 6, in the bottom of the seventh.

HIGHLAND and Onteora were locked 1-1 in the sixth when Crimi walked, stole second and when the ball sailed through the outfielder he raced all the way home with the winning run.

New Paltz and Wallkill were deadlocked at 6-6 when Ronk led off with a walk. John Mott flied to left for the first out. Dehardt booted Fred Ott's grounder at first and Mott raced to third. At this point Don Jayne dropped a perfect squeeze bunt along the first base line and Ott romped across with the winning marker.

DAVE BURDASH limited Onteora to a pair of singles and fanned nine. The Highlanders collected only four safeties off Jensen and Rotella.

John Gersch stole home for Highland's first run in the third and Burdash lost his shutout in the fifth when catcher McClinton threw wild on a pickoff and Smith scored all the way from first.

Dodd and Kelly powered two hits each for New Paltz, Art DePuy and Norman Ronk held Wallkill to five hits, including two by Gregg.

Arlington High and Poughkeepsie High have been at athletic odds since 1938 and efforts to bring about renewal of athletic relations between the schools have met with failure in the past.

Now it appears both sides are willing to sit down and talk turkey. Coach Samuel J. Kalloch, who engineered the Blues' famous walk from the DUSO many years ago, has mellowed perceptibly in his attitude toward Arlington. So has the other side.

As a matter of fact, Sam says, "I have always been in favor of Poughkeepsie and Arlington teams playing one another." He says he has made several efforts in the past to renew relations, but without success.

"I hope this time we can get together and settle any differences," Sam continued. Superintendent of Schools Holden of Poughkeepsie has taken the initiative in calling for talks between the two schools. Arlington Central school district, Storms, said he would be agreeable to such talks on baseball, basketball and track.

George Palmateer, the Poughkeepsie sports ed., points out that the series ended in 1938 after the PHS football team, a powerhouse trounced Arlington. That licking was the straw that broke the camel's back. But prior to this game, the series featured many close and exciting games. And Arlington wasn't always on the short end.

The parties who are trying to arrange the peace talks carefully avoid the subject of football. They feel football is highly explosive and conducive to unfortunate 'incidents'. They would rather see the schools resume with basketball, baseball and track and, after relations have been solidified, try football again.

"Getting Poughkeepsie back into the DUSO League," wrote Palmateer, "was more difficult than writing a legible letter with a post office pen while riding in the back of a pickup truck (why, George!) but it was finally done."

Joe Scott, who has shared the Ulster county tennis doubles titles for several years, was quick to point out the significance of Marty Kantrowitz's tremendous victory over Jack McDonough of Newburgh Academy.

McDonough happens to be the New York State Intersectional champion and until Marty gave him his lumps Monday had never dropped a set in high school competition.

Scott revealed Kantrowitz's careful training regimen for the big test.

"First he played against me Saturday," said Joe. "Then we took a trip to Poughkeepsie to meet some hotshots Sunday. By Monday he was ready for McDonough."

"He hits a 'hard' ball," continued Scott, obviously elated by Kantrowitz's great showing. "He's hitting the ball as well as Bill Holmes in his hey-dey."

That was, indeed, tribute from Caesar himself.

National Youth Day Program Stages 16 Events at Stadium

Sixteen bicycling and field events were staged in conjunction with Kingston Lodge No. 550, BPOE's observance of national Loyalty Day Sunday at Dietz Stadium.

Although the number of participants fell below expectations, the Youth Activities Committee of the Elks, headed by Chairman Frank Nadal, was highly gratified by the results.

There were many handsome prizes and exciting races and the committee feels that it was a good start toward a bigger program in 1956.

ELKS NATIONAL Youth Day is designed to counteract the May Day of the Russians. The committee felt that Sunday's program had achieved this goal.

Two of the youngsters scored double victories. Billy Ford copped the fast bicycle race for boys 6 to 8 and the 75 yard dash.

Thirty-Eight Players Compete In Wild Contest

Jackson Homers; Pitchers Shine

Thirty-eight players and 110 minutes after the game got under way, Kingston High had crushed Arlington High, 14-4, in their return meeting Tuesday at Arlington diamond.

Coach Bill Burke, getting strong pitching performance from Alo Saluste, Rennie Giannuzzi and Bob Maines, used 18 players.

But Coach Fritz Jordan's use of 20 players in a game that extended from 4:15 to 6:55 p. m. (seven innings, only) was the result of furious, if futile, masterminding and the switching of players like chess men.

BAGGING THEIR second victory in three starts, the Kingston Maroons proved they own Arlington which had captured four out of five before running into a loss at Dietz Stadium.

The three Maroon flingers combined for a total of 12 strikeouts. Southpaw Saluste went the first three innings and gave up three runs and fanned five.

Giannuzzi made his best showing of the season in the fourth and fifth, retiring six batters in succession and fanning the first four men he faced. Bob Maines mopped up and was touched for a tally in the seventh.

MAINES continued his heavy slugging with a perfect "3 for 3," including his third triple of the season to lead Kingston's eight-hit attack on Penfield and Williams. Both were raked for seven runs and Saluste had a 5-0 lead before he pitched a ball.

Jim Jackson slammed a terrific homer to deep center with one aboard in the second to put Kingston ahead 7-1 at the moment. Maines' triple also travelled to deep center and came with two aboard.

Joey Hoffman and Bob Shelightner pounded doubles. Ronnie Ashdown, Johnny Culjak and Jack Dawkins accounted for the other Kingston safeties.

Kingston plays at Poughkeepsie in a DUSO game Thursday, with Bob Maines scheduled to pitch.

Takes His Pick

Providence, R. I. (NEA)—Harry Josephson of Brown is a pitching candidate for major league baseball and also on the list of professional football scouts.

Sugar Ray Meets Panter Tonight

Detroit, May 4 (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson, on a comeback campaign, is scheduled for 10 nontelevised rounds tonight against Garth Panter of Salt Lake City. A familiar TV performer who has lost six of his last seven starts.

In his heydey the former middleweight champion could have whipped Panter with one hand. The result tonight is a little less certain.

Robinson opened his comeback at Detroit's Olympia Stadium in January with a six-round kayo of Joe Rindone. He's back in Detroit after a loss and two decisions in three more bouts.

Kansas City Home Attendance 306,474

Kansas City, May 4 (AP)—The Kansas City Athletics, a Philadelphia baseball firm for more than half a century, needed only 14 playing dates to attract more fans than the same club did in the Quaker City all last season.

Last night's 15,953 fans who watched the Athletics' 4-3 victory over the Baltimore Orioles brought the home attendance to 306,474. That's 1,808 more than the 304,666 who paid to see the A's in Philadelphia for 77 games last year.

Dislike Probe

New York, May 4 (AP)—Ten city school teachers have resigned and three others have asked to resign as a result of a new communism investigation. They were called for questioning about past Communist membership or the membership of other teachers. Saul Moskoff, assistant corporation counsel who is conducting the investigation, announced the results to date yesterday. He said the 13 were among 57 called for questioning or requestioning under a resolution adopted by the Board of Education March 17.

Lefty Grove Elected To Public Office

Lonaconing, Md., May 4 (AP)—Robert Moses (Lefty) Grove, former Major League pitching great and member of baseball's Hall of Fame, today was elected to the town council in his first try for public office.

Lefty, the last Major League pitcher to win 300 games, polled 261 votes in the nonpartisan town election, good enough for one of the four council seats.

Rickey's 'Fuzz Kids' Kicking Up Their Heels

By WILL GRIMSLEY
The Associated Press

Branch Rickey's Pittsburgh "fuzz kids" are now the "nuisance kids" of the National League.

While the haughty New York Giants and Milwaukee Braves are trying to maintain complete calm in the face of continuing reverses, the beardless Pirates are kicking up sawdust all over the place.

They now have won three games in a row. They have won four of the last five. They are playing as if they take serious stock in Rickey's "five year plan," which had 1955 fixed as the date for the pennant.

OF COURSE, nobody seriously expects a pennant from Pittsburgh this soon. But they can expect surprises. The Pirates are young and brash—and winning.

Last night a 29-year-old Baltimore castoff, Dick Littlefield, shut out the Milwaukee Braves on seven hits 4-0, stretching the Braves' string of scoreless innings to 22.

The setback was doubly bitter to the Braves because it was achieved by a lefthander against the righthand-loaded Milwaukee power. It was, in fact, the fourth time a southpaw had stopped the Braves scoreless since 1952. Philadelphia's Curt Simmons did it in 1953 and the Giants' Johnny Antonelli and Cincinnati's Joe Nuxhall in 1954.

The Braves dropped seven full games back of the idle Brooklyn Dodgers and their only comfort was that the champion New York Giants were another full game farther back.

THE GIANTS also were whitewashed by the Chicago Cubs' Bob Rush, who fashioned a tidy four-hitter while Bob Speake and Dee Fondy, with three triples between them, battered the Giants' Jim Hern. The final score was 6-0.

In the only other National League game, Big Ted Kluszewski hit two of Cincinnati's home runs to down the Philadelphia Phillies 7-5.

Over in the American League where only two and a half games separate the top four clubs, the Cleveland Indians whipped the New York Yankees 7-4 in their first clash of the season. The Indians thus managed to hold their slender half-game lead over the pressing Detroit Tigers, who topped the Boston Red Sox 4-2 on a two-run homer by the 20-year-old sensation, Al Kaline.

The Kansas City Athletics beat the Baltimore Orioles 4-3 on a three-run homer by Bill Wilson in the eighth inning. The Chicago White Sox trimmed the Washington Senators 5-3.

LITTLEFIELD gave the Pirates their third straight top-flight pitching performance in beating the Braves. Ronnie Kline and young Bob Purkey did similar workmanlike jobs on the St. Louis Cardinals earlier this week.

There's not a player in the regular Pittsburgh lineup who is 30 years old or above.

Bob Rush kept the Cubs on Brooklyn's neck, but 5½ games back in second place, with a masterful pitching performance. Don Mueller, with a double and a single, and Monte Irvin, with two singles, were the only Giants to hit him and Mueller was the only one to get as far as second—with his double in the ninth. Hearn, who had won three in a row, was the Giants' loser.

Catcher Yogi Berra proved the "goat" of the Yankees loss to Cleveland. With the score tied 4-4 as the result of homers by Cleveland's Al Smith and Ralph Kiner and the Yanks' Mickey Mantle, Yogi muffed a throw-in which led to three unearned runs. Mike Garcia was the winning pitcher, Ed Lopat the loser.

Realizes Dream

Worcester, Mass., May 4 (AP)—At the age of 63 Mrs. Francis H. Goldthwaite has realized a childhood dream. She became a licensed preacher of the Methodist Church with receipt of her license last night from Worcester District Supt. the Rev. Charles T. Allen. Mrs. Goldthwaite, whose father was a minister and whose mother was a licensed preacher, said: "I've had it in the back of my mind since childhood to be a licensed preacher. I've always been interested in spiritual rather than social things."

Held for Murder

Jersey City, N. J., May 4 (AP)—Charles Curran, ex-marine of Jersey City charged with the murder of a marine in Massachusetts, was held without bail today pending formal arraignment later this week. U. S. Commissioner M. Lester Lynch remanded Curran to the Hudson county jail to await arrival of a formal warrant from Massachusetts. Lynch said the arraignment probably will take place Thursday or Friday. Curran, 20, was arrested last night on the murder charge in the death of Edmund C. Boyle, 22, attached to the Naval Air Station at Weymouth, Mass.

The five jobs involve 13.46 miles of work, and have been estimated at a total cost of $7,221,000. The bids, Mr. Johnson said, will be opened publicly in Chancellor's Hall, State Federation Building, starting at 10:30 a. m.

Rule Judge Erred In Allowing Pictures

New York, May 4 (AP)—The Appellate Division of the state Supreme Court has ruled that a judge was in error for allowing news photographers and television men to take pictures in a juvenile court.

The ruling referred to the permission granted photographers last March 20 by Bronx Children's Court Justice Matthew J. Diserio.

Diserio, who allowed picture-taking at newsmen's requests, did not permit them to use the names of nine boys 13 to 15 who allegedly raided a high school classroom and beat up a student.

HE SAID at the time: "I don't believe the press should be excluded in a matter of public affairs—or public events."

The Appellate Court ruling yesterday said "The rule of this court against the improper publicizing of court proceedings is a firm rule applicable to all the courts of this department and we enjoin upon all the justices of these courts a strict observance of the rule."

The court said no disciplinary action would be taken against Diserio, because of "mitigating circumstances" in the case.

Millers Give Up After Battle of 12-Hour Span

Bethel, Vt., May 4 (AP)—A barrage of tear gas has ended the holdout of guntoting Justice of the Peace Manuel Miller, 47, who stood off federal and state authorities 12 hours yesterday in a futile attempt to keep his wife out of a mental hospital.

Miller and his wife, Lucille, 44, parents of three children, surrendered last night in their gas-filled home—she to face confinement in St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Washington, D. C.; he to face as yet undetermined federal charges.

THE MILD-MANNERED Miller, a school committeeman and former selectman, began the siege at 10 a. m., EST, when he refused admittance to U. S. Marshal Dewey H. Perry bearing a federal order for Mrs. Miller's commitment.

Mrs. Miller, publisher of a mimeographed anti-Communist leaflet called the Green Mountain Rifleman, was adjudged insane in Federal Court at Burlington April 18 as the outgrowth of an indictment charging her with influencing young men to evade the draft.

THROUGHOUT the day, Miller, armed with a rifle, defied all efforts by authorities to remove his wife from their two-story frame home. He ordered out Vermont Public Safety Commissioner William H. Baumann at gunpoint.

Some 12 hours after the stalemate began and after threats, pleas and cajoling failed, authorities fired tear gas shells through downstairs windows of the Miller home. Ten minutes later, the couple appeared at an upstairs window.

MILLER CRAWLED through the window onto a porch roof.

"All right, fellows," he called.

He threw his rifle to the ground. State troopers swarmed on the roof and handcuffed him.

Mrs. Miller started through the window. She collapsed across the sill, overcome by gas. She was carried unconscious from the roof in a wicker basket-type stretcher.

40 Shocks in Volos

Athens, Greece, May 4 (AP)—Press reports from Volos said today the quake-stricken city was shaken by 40 post-seismic shocks some described as fairly strong, the past 24 hours. More houses have collapsed and the population was reported panicky. The reports said nine persons have died in quakes which started April 19. The Defense Ministry announced that only 4,895 houses remain intact of a total 24,167 in Volos and surrounding villages. The ministry said an estimated 110,000 persons were homeless.

Sure of Mistake

Rochester, May 4 (AP)—Miss Lillie C. Meyer, a retired bookkeeper who now works only part-time, figured the government owed her a refund of $50.90 on her income tax. Yesterday she received a check for $891—her total taxable income for last year. Mrs. Meyer said she thought the government was being "very nice," but she was sure there was some mistake. She mailed the check back.
